THE ROLL OF PUPILS

OF

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE TORONTO

JANUARY, 1830, TO JUNE, 1916.

Edited for the Old Boys' Association

by the

Honorary Corresponding Secretary,

A. H. YOUNG, M.A., D.C.L.

HANSON, CROZIER, AND EDGAR,
Kingston, Ontario.

TO THE SUBSCRIBERS

Had it not been for the war, a new Memorial Volume of the School would have been issued; but that, like the erection of the new buildings on the magnificent site at Norval, on the Credit River, has been deferred. In its stead is presented a new and enlarged edition of the "Roll of Pupils," which has been compiled from the Registers of the School and its other records as well as from supplementary information supplied by "Old Boys" and other persons. Among the latter are Mr. C. Henderson, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Principal Hutton, of University College, Toronto, Professor Baker, F.R.S.C., Professor Fraser, Mr. F. C. Watson, of Sarnia, Mr. W. Hart, of Guelph, Mr. T. Evans Bradburn, of Peterborough, the Librarian of the University of St. Andrew's, the Commandant of the Royal Military College, the Registrars of the University of Toronto, Queen's, and McGill, together with many mothers, wives, sisters, and daughters of "Old Boys" and Old Masters.

Fifteen years ago the former edition appeared under the editorship of a committee composed of Messrs. F. J. Campbell, Thos. E. Champion, Arnold Morphy, Harold Muntz, D. T. Symons, and A. H. Young. The basis of their work was the list which had appeared in the Memorial Volume, published about ten years earlier under the general editorship of the late Mr. G. Mercer Adam and the late Mr. George Dickson, Principal from 1885 to 1895. To this list were added, in 1901, the names of the pupils who had entered the School at Deer Park within the intervening decade.

Some ten years ago the present Editor undertook to construct a card index of the "Old Boys," provided that the Association paid for printing, postage, and clerical assistance. This it has done without stint to a sum amounting to more than two thousand dollars. In addition, a subscription for expenses was given by the late Mr. H. C. Hammond, at one time President of the Association. To contain the catalogue, a cabinet is being presented by Mr. R. S. Hudson, to whom, as well as to the present President, Mr. W. G. Gooderham, the Editor is indebted for ever ready sympathy in his undertaking.

For help with the military list the Editor is deeply indebted to Mr. G. E. Kingsford, to the Principal, and to his Secretary, Miss Philbrick. It has been carefully checked with the Departmental lists, as far as possible, by his own assistant, Miss L. Irene Taylor, of whose work in general he cannot speak too highly. In particular, Miss Taylor deserves mention for her patient, thorough search of old City Directories for lost "Old Boys" and of the whole series of Canadian Almanacs, and other earlier publications of a like kind, for Old Masters, whose names had been lost to memory. Nor can he forget the services rendered by Miss Gladys Robertson, to whom fell the arduous task of transcribing to the trial cards the information gleaned from the former edition of the "Roll" and from the Registers; by Miss Margaret Robertson, who searched the Fee Books, finding several names that had not been written up in the Registers, and who made the second set of cards; by the Misses Muriel and Jean Young, who, in addition to Miss Taylor, worked with him in the final checking of the cards with the Registers and in making the last set of cards; by Miss Mary H. Young, who helped him to tabulate and to enter the information furnished by the "Old Boys" during the spring of this year; and by Miss Beryl Bruce, who assisted Miss Taylor in making copy for the printer.

To the "Old Boys" for their coöperation, and to more than twelve hundred of them for promptly sending in the subscriptions which have made publication possible, the Editor is grateful. He was much cheered by the generous offer of one in Vancouver to revise the list for that city and its environs. The coming into touch again with many whom he knew well in his own school days and in the five years of his mastership, the renewal of many pleasant memories, and the reception of scores of kindly letters have amply repaid him for the work that he has put upon the index and the "Roll."

For the book he bespeaks indulgent criticism, for he knows better than anybody else can know its imperfections and its shortcomings. Even in ten years it is not possible for one man, however wide his acquaintance may be, to trace every "Old Boy." To determine the date at which "Old Boys" left the School can be done, if one can spare the time to search the Ranking Books since 1832. That time he has not as yet been able to spare; nor, with other things pressing, besides the work by which he earns his living, can he promise to spare it, though he could oversee the work if the Association could continue to find the money for it.

At the best, such a book is, in the very nature of the case, partially obsolete before it reaches the subscribers' hands. Addresses change and deaths take place. By reason of the war the number of the latter has been unusually large in this instance. The lives have been freely yielded up, leaving a noble heritage to the School and to the various family circles to which sorrow has come. "It is the best way," as Oswald Grant wrote to his mother in his farewell letter.

TRINITY COLLEGE,

TORONTO, August 25th, 1916.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE

Upper Canada College is the oldest residential school for boys to the west of Montreal, having been founded by Sir John Colborne, first Lord Seaton, in 1829. In the Maritime Provinces it is surpassed in age by King's College School, Windsor, N. S., which dates back to 1788, its founder having been the Right Reverend Charles Inglis, U.E.L., first Bishop of Nova Scotia. In the Province of Quebec there is a still older foundation, the Séminaire de Québec, which goes back to the 17th century.

All three are alike in having had a close connection with the University situated in the town in which they themselves are respectively located. Out of the Séminaire grew Laval, the oldest collegiate institution in the King's Overseas Dominions. From the Collegiate School at Windsor was evolved the University of King's College, which is the most ancient University for English-speaking people in any of the Colonial possessions. As is well known, Upper Canada College was, during nearly sixty years of its history, intimately associated with King's College, Toronto, and its successor, the University of Toronto.

The idea of establishing a University for Upper Canada had been entertained by General Simcoe, the first Lieutenant-Governor, but, like others of his plans for the well-being of the country, it was not carried out till many years after his death. It was only in 1827 that the Royal Charter for King's College at York was issued, but it was not till 1843 that teaching was actually begun. It is not necessary here to go into the sectarian reasons for this delay; but a sufficient one, of a very practical kind, was presented by the fact that there were not enough preparatory schools able to send up students who could profitably attend lectures. Consequently men who could afford to do so were sending their sons to England to college, and even to school. Others were sending them to Nova Scotia and to New Brunswick; others again were sending them to the United States, as witness, among other things, the replies made by Dr. Harris to the Committee on Education, printed in its first Report to "the Honourable the Commons' House of Assembly" in 1832.

In "Mrs. Simcoe's Diary," as published by Mr. John Ross Robertson, it would appear that there was some kind of school in operation at Niagara between 1792 and 1796. From the correspondence of the Reverend John Stuart, M.A., D.D., first Rector of Kingston, it is clear that he himself and, after him, a Mr. Matthew Donovan carried on a school in that town from 1785 onward. His eldest son, George Okill Stuart, also taught in Kingston, between 1795 and 1799, General Simcoe arranging for the salary on his way to Quebec to sail for home. At a very early date, quite as early as 1785, there was a master for the Mohawk Indians, at Deseronto, provided by the London Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts; and there was one provided by Government for their brethren on the Grand River.

One of the greatest schoolmasters who have given themselves to moulding the youth of Canada was Mr. John Strachan, M.A. (Aberdeen), who arrived in Kingston on the last day of the year 1799, to take charge of the school in that town. That Mr. George Okill Stuart had given up in order, first of all, to continue his studies at Harvard and, secondly, to become ordained as second Rector of York. After nearly three years Mr. Strachan also was ordained and removed to Cornwall, where he continued his school in addition to doing parish work in his Mission. There he lived till June, 1812, making a great reputation for himself among his chief patrons, the wealthy Nor'-Westers of Montreal, and laying the foundation of the immense influence which he wielded in the Canadas down to the year of his death, 1867.

In June, 1812, he succeeded George Okill Stuart as Rector of York and of the Grammar School, but the War of 1812 prevented him for two or three years from paying much attention to his little parish or to the school. From 1815 to 1823 the latter flourished under his administration and that of his assistants, one of whom was Mr. A. N. Bethune, Bishop of Toronto from 1867 to 1879. In the year 1823 Dr. Strachan became President of the General Board of Education for the Province; in 1827 he brought home from London the Royal Charter for the University, of which he was President ex officio till 1849; in 1829 he became head of the Governing Body of U. C. C., the Founder having requested the General Board of Education to act in that capacity; a few years later the School was placed under the jurisdiction of the Council of King's College, and it thus received the benefit of his experience and advice till the University was secularized in 1849. From 1850 to the end of his life Trinity College, which he proceeded to found, the settlement of the Clergy Reserves, and the oversight of his large Diocese, which, though divided in 1857 and again in 1862, was more than enough to tax the energies of a man of his years, became his chief care.

Early in the history of U. C. C. Dr. Strachan had written to the Founder to plead for a more comprehensive programme of study than that which had been adopted by the latter and his brother-in-law, the first Principal. He based his plea on his experience of the country during the preceding thirty years. The same sort of view was presented by members of the Legislative Assembly's Committee on Education in 1832, but no change was made till the advent of Dr. McCaul in 1839, only Classical boys being eligible to become Head Boys, as Mr. Brown states. It was held to be a great innovation to have placed the French Master, and even the Drawing Master, on the Foundation rather than to have left them to be dependent upon the fees of their pupils.

"Going down the town" for drawing lessons was soon found, even in those early days, to have decided disadvantages from the disciplinary standpoint, therefore that order of things had to be replaced by a better one.

Hebrew, German, surveying, and logic were among the new studies introduced by Dr. McCaul, the first and the second of them being taught by Mr. Hirschfelder, known down into the eighties by many generations of University College men as Lecturer on Hebrew. In Dr. McCaul's time also, even more than in Dr. Harris', the Seventh Form, which the latter had established in January, 1832, did University work, thus going beyond what was required of it as the "Minor College." But the gratifying result was that there were two or three classes, in addition to the one leaving in the ordinary course of events in 1843, ready to attend lectures on the opening of King's College in that year.

The full name of the School at its foundation was Upper Canada College and Royal Grammar School. The latter part of it recalls the fact that it displaced the Grammar School of the Home District, which was a grievance to the good people of York when they found that the fees of the new school were higher than those of the old one and that its scheme of instruction was not so practical as the one to which they had grown accustomed. Presently the District School was restored; and it is still doing its work under the name of the Jarvis St. Collegiate Institute, which, as has been shown, has a common origin with Upper Canada College.

In the Memorial Volume of the College, published under the joint editorship of Mr. Principal Dickson and Mr. G. Mercer Adam, Mr. John Ross Robertson tells how the "Blue School" at the corner of Adelaide and Church Streets, where the Public Library now stands, was bereft of furniture, pupils, and masters, all being transferred to the College for the opening on the 4th of January, 1831. In The Kingston Chronicle of November 28th, 1829, had appeared the following advertisement:—"UPPER CANADA COLLEGE, ESTABLISHED AT YORK: Classical Department: Principal, the Rev. J. H. Harris, D.D., Late Fellow of Clare Hall, Cambridge; Vice-Principal, the Rev. T. Phillips, D.D., of Queen's College, Cambridge. Masters: *the Rev. — Matthews, M.A., of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, the Rev. W. Boulton, B.A., of Queen's College, Oxford. Mathematical Department: the Rev. C. Dade, M.A., Fellow of Caius College, Cambridge. French Master, Monsieur De la Haye. Drawing Master, Mr. Drury. Writing Master, Mr. G. A. Barber. *Assistant Writing Master, ——. Dr. Phillips will be prepared to receive Boarders on the Fourth of January next. TERMS FOR BOARDERS: From 6 to 12 years of age, £35, 0, 0. Above 12 years of age, £41, 0, 0. These terms include Instruction in Divinity; Greek; Latin; French; Writing; Arithmetic; the Mathematics, etc. They also include Pens; Ink; Firewood; Washing and Mending. No extra charges. Payments to be made Quarterly. . . . *All letters addressed to Dr. Phillips will be immediately attended to. York, U. C., Nov. 18, 1829."

Dr. Phillips and Mr. Barber had constituted the staff of the District School. Mr. Boulton, who died early but whose widow long survived him, belonged to the well-known Toronto family of that name. The others, with the exception, possibly, of Mr. Drury, were new arrivals.

The Principal, as has been already hinted, was a brother-in-law of Sir John Colborne, having married Miss Yonge, Lady Colborne's sister. Sir John going home after quelling the Rebellion of 1837, for which he was raised to the peerage as Baron Seaton and received a pension of £2,000 for himself and each of the two succeeding holders of the title, Dr. Harris went also. He settled down to the duties of a parish in

*The Annals prefixed to Register I give Mr. Matthews' name as Charles, Mr. Drury's as Mr. Drewry, and the Master of the Preparatory School as Mr. Padfield, there being no Assistant Writing Master.

Devonshire, whither the Seatons also went and from which his wife had come. As noted in the list of Principals and Masters (q.v.), the undergraduate gown of University College, with its chevrons of velvet, is said to have been adopted out of compliment to him. The Harris Prize, which commemorates him in the School, is reserved for the sons of Old Boys. One will soon be needed for the grandsons.

Mr. Dade, whose meteorological charts and observations were quoted only the other day at the Observatory in Toronto in connection with reports on this summer's heat, had been a Master at Elizabeth College, Guernsey, which had been restored "to a legitimate purpose" by Sir John Colborne during his Lieut.-Governorship of the Island, 1826-1828. Through the kindness of his daughter, Miss Dade, of Georgetown, who, by the way, is, through her mother, a granddaughter of Dr. Phillips, a good picture of that ancient foundation has been presented to the School. It is well to add, in view of the proximity of Georgetown to the new site for the School, that Mr. Dade is buried in the churchyard of that town, Dr. Phillips being buried in Weston. To both memorials were erected by Old Boys on the initiative of the Rev. Dr. Scadding, from whose tribute to Mr. Dade, published at the time of his death, an extract will be found under his name in the list of Masters. Among the descendants of Mr. De la Haye are General A. H. Macdonell, Mr. A. Claude Macdonell, K.C., M.P., of Toronto, Miss Berthon, and Mrs. Mouré, wife of the Bursar of the University of Toronto, who received his training under the late Bursar, Mr. J. E. Berkeley Smith (q.v.). The father of these ladies painted the portraits of the first four Principals, which, from hanging in the Prayer Hall, are familiar to all "Old Boys."

The present building, having been in use for twenty-five years, it may be necessary to state that the old one, with the Masters' houses flanking it, faced King Street in the block formerly bounded by Simcoe, Adelaide, John, and King Streets. This land is said to have been intended for a City park and to have borne the name of Russell Square, having been called after Mr. President Russell, who administered the government of the Province during the last three years of General Simcoe's term of office, 1796-1799.

Opposite, on the south side of King Street, stood in succession two Government houses, the later of which was taken down only four years ago to make way for the Canadian Pacific Railway's offices and freight sheds. In the seventies the neighbourhood was further improved by the erection of St. Andrew's Church. It and the dis-used public-house at the north-east corner are the only buildings remaining to show the point of the old names—Legislation, Education, Damnation, Salvation. The persistence of the fourth may after all be given a symbolic application.

Never beautiful, the College buildings belonged to the "red brick period" of Toronto's architecture, as also did the "ugly" brick Church (St. James's), to which Mrs. Jameson refers; St. Andrew's Church, which used to stand at the south-west corner of Church and Adelaide Streets; the Grange, which is happily preserved to the city through the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Goldwin Smith; and the Parliament Buildings, formerly in the centre of the block directly to the south of the Government House, which is now covered with Grand Trunk Railway tracks and freight sheds.

The group being set well back from King Street, the original alignment was pretty much that of the north side of the present Pearl Street, which till recently ended at Simcoe Street. The Bursar's house was quite at the corner of Simcoe and Adelaide Streets, the Masters' gardens and stables extending thence along the latter street almost to Duncan Street. At the south-west corner of Duncan and Adelaide Streets can still be seen a portion of the old "Main" Boarding House, which was put up a few years after the other buildings, the "new" wing being added as late as 1871. To the west and south of the "Main" stretched the playground, straight down to King Street. All the rest of the ground facing King Street came to be very pleasing to the eye by reason of the lawns, shrubbery, and shade-trees, the chief glory of which was a magnificent elm. Of course, they had no Duncan Street cutting through from north to south, as it does to-day.

Readers of The Kingston Chronicle of Saturday, June 6th, 1829, found in their paper of that date the following advertisement, which had been preceded by four weeks by one regarding the Parliament Buildings: "MINOR COLLEGE. Sealed Tenders for erecting a School House at York, and four Dwelling Houses, will be received on the first Monday in June next.

"Plans, Elevations, and Specifications may be seen after 12th instant, on application to The Honourable George Markland, from whom further information will be received.

✍ "Editors throughout the Province are requested to insert this notice, until the first Monday in June, and forward their accounts for the same to the Office of the Loyalist, York.

"York, 1st May, 1829."

The Annals in Register I contain the following entry for the year 1840, after noting the publication of the first Register with an Appendix of Examination papers: "In the same year improvements were made in the grounds in front of the buildings, under the superintendence of Mr. Wedd.

"In 1841 the porch and exterior of the central building were improved according to the plans of Mr. J. G. Howard. . . .

"In the same year (1842) the Boarding House was improved by the erection of a new porch, and by other changes.

"In the same year—April 23—the Principal and Masters entertained at a déjeuner in the College Hall the Chancellor of the University of King's College on the occasion of the laying of the foundation-stone of the University Buildings.* The pupils were at the same time entertained in the Hall at the expense of the College Council.

"In the same year the front of the grounds on King Street was improved, according to the plans of Mr. J. G. Howard,* by the erection of new gate-posts and gas-lamps."

*The buildings here referred to were never completed. For many years a solitary wing, inhabited only by a caretaker, if at all, stood on the site of the east wing of the present Parliament Buildings. The old Parliament Buildings already referred to were at first used for lectures, Toronto for the time being not ranking as the seat of Government.

*Mr. Howard presented High Park to the City. He is buried there.

The Annals were not carried on through Mr. Barron's time, therefore it is not possible to give any account of other improvements which may have been made in his principalship and Mr. Stennett's. In Mr. Cockburn's, besides the building of the new wing of the Boarding House, already adverted to, have to be noted the making over of the Principal's and Masters' houses, putting Mansarde roofs on them, and the erection of a new Hall with two large classrooms below it, in 1877.

No more building was done in King Street, but all of the houses on the east side of the School were converted into Boarding Houses as they fell vacant in Mr. Buchan's time. For some years before the removal to Deer Park, in 1891, these were presided over by Mr. Brock and Mr. Jackson, the latter of whom became Dean of Residence in the new School and so continued till Mr. Dickson gave up the Principalship in 1895.

Happily Mr. Jackson is again at the head of the House, having gone back to it on the appointment of Mr. Somerville to the Preparatory School in 1911. The debt owing to him by the several generations of "Old Boys" who have been under him since he first joined the Staff as a very young man, in 1877, is exceedingly great. They will be glad to know that, thanks to his yachting, tramping, and mountain-climbing, he is fitter than many a younger man and that the School may reasonably look forward to deriving benefit for some years to come from his strength of character, his wealth of experience, and his great wisdom.

The School has had several men who have rendered long service as Masters and who deserve to be held in honourable remembrance by the "Old Boys" themselves and by all others who care for the place. Dr. Wedd and Mr. Brown, who have been living in retirement for twenty-five and twenty-nine years respectively, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Martland, and Mr. Sparling, who died thirty-two, fifteen, and thirteen years ago, gave three or four decades of their lives to the School and to those who have attended it. And the same is true of Dr. Barrett, who had a long and useful career after he resigned. Mr. Cockburn, whose principalship was the longest, besides being vigourously efficient and financially successful, spent twenty years in the service; and yet he had thirty more to give to politics and finance before he died.

The list of former Principals and Masters will reward careful perusal, containing as it does, the names of many men who have won high place and honour—Archbishop Sweatman, Sir William Mulock, Dr. Parkin, C.M.G., Col. Fotheringham, C.M.G., Professor Alfred Baker, F.R.S.C., Dr. A. C. McKay, Professor Fraser, Dr. McLellan, and Professor W. A. Neilson, of Harvard, to mention only a few. To Mr. E. R. Peacock belongs the credit of having designed the Preparatory School, the cornerstone of which was laid by Her Excellency the Countess of Minto in 1901, when the Old Boys' Association celebrated its tenth birthday, under the presidency of Mr. W. H. Beatty. To Mr. Herbert C. Hammond, a warm admirer and intimate friend of Dr. Parkin, then Principal, more than to anybody else is due the honour of making possible the erection of the building.

Among the Masters there have been in different generations sixteen "Old Boys," whose names follow in alphabetical order:—James Brown, S. H. Brown, Pelham Edgar, G. M. Evans-Lewis, W. A. R. Kerr, S. B.

Leacock, A. A. Macdonald, G. F. Macdonnell, N. S. Macdonnell, J. G. D. Mackenzie, J. A. Paterson, E. M. Sait, Henry Scadding, Walter Stennett (who attained also to the Principalship), William Wedd, and A. H. Young. Education, Law, and ranching have claimed those who are still leading an active life, two being on service for the King. One is increasing greatly a reputation deservedly won, by his delightful books; and another has earned distinction by his editorship, with Mr. Duncan Campbell Scott and Mr. W. D. LeSueur, of "The Makers of Canada."

To Dr. Scadding belongs the honour of having been the first boy to be enrolled as a pupil of the School, as well as the first Head Boy and the first "Old Boy" to become a Master. Educated at Cambridge by the liberality of Mrs. Simcoe, with whose husband his father had come to Upper Canada, Dr. Scadding was intimately acquainted with the very early history of the Province. Returning to Toronto, he was tutor to the sons of Sir John Colborne. When the Church of the Holy Trinity was opened, he became its first Rector, of which fact a beautiful brass tablet in the Church and Scadding House, in Trinity Square, keep people in remembrance. The bas-relief that hangs in the entrance-hall of the School gives an excellent representation of him in later life, when sight had failed through over-much study of his many books and when the very becoming black silk skull cap invariably surmounted his snowy, flowing hair when his hat had been removed.

Second on the Roll on the 4th of January, 1830, stands the name of John Strachan, the second son of the Honourable and Venerable John Strachan, Archdeacon of York, as he then was. His brother Alexander's name is seventh on the list. Both of them became well known in the practice of the Law, and the former, at the time of his death, some forty years later, was Judge of the Huron Tract.

Other names familiar in the history of the City or of the Province which are found on the same date, or later in the month, are Wells, Givins, McNab (a son of Sir Allan), three Macdonalds, from Gananoque, two Robinsons—Lukin and John, the elder sons of the Chief Justice—two Sherwoods, three Hewards, Colley Foster, two Denisons, Dunn, three Jarvises, four Ridouts, Boulton, and the Stevensons, from Niagara. In February entered a Brooke, a Boswell of Cobourg, and three Phillpotts; in March a Small; in November Walter Stennett, the future Principal, and his brother, together with Charles Stuart of Kingston, a grandson of the Rev. John Stuart, D.D., already mentioned as being the first school-master as well as the first Anglican clergyman to be settled in Upper Canada.

The first missionary of the Kirk of Scotland in the Province was the Reverend John Bethune, of Williamstown, who, as a Loyalist, had come to Canada and had been Chaplain to the 84th Regiment at Carleton Island in 1784. His Parish Register, which comes down to 1815, the year of his death, is of great interest and is preserved in the Archives of Ontario. Many of his grandsons and great-grandsons became pupils of Upper Canada College, among them being the Reverend Charles James Stewart Bethune, who, with his brother, the Reverend F. A. Bethune, gave its character to Trinity College School, Port Hope. Dr. Bethune's predecessor in the Headmastership of that School was also an "Old Boy"—the Reverend Charles H. Badgley.

Besides the sons and nephews of Bishop Bethune came also at different times sons of Bishops Carmichael, Cronyn, Fauquier, Fuller, Hellmuth, Sullivan, and Sweatman; of Dean Grasett; of several Toronto Rectors, Mr. Darling, Dr. Lett, Mr. Sanson, Mr. Williams, Mr. Jones, and Archdeacon Boddy; together with sons of Principal Caven, Principal Maclaren, Dr. Jennings, Dr. Burns, Dr. Parsons, Mr. Macdonnell, of St. Andrew's Church, the Reverend Chancellor Burwash, and the Reverend Dr. Lillie.

Another pioneer clergyman of the Presbyterian Church was the Reverend Robert McDowall of Fredericksburgh, whose Register is to be found in the Library of Queen's University. His son Daniell was a Boarder at the School from January, 1835, to the summer vacation of the same year.

A historical figure of Methodism also appears in Register I in the person of Bishop Richardson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who, as a young man had lived in Kingston and had served as a Lieutenant in the Navy in the War of 1812, losing one of his arms. Three generations of his family have attended the School, the first of them being his son, Dr. James H. Richardson, who for many years was a Professor in the old Toronto School of Medicine. Others of the Bishop's descendants will be found by consulting the various entries of Roafs.

No mention of Methodism would be complete without reference to the Reverend Enoch Wood and the Reverend Anson Greene, after whom Woodgreen Church, Toronto, is called, or to the Reverend Matthew Richey and the Reverend Dr. Ryerson. Everybody knows the importance of Dr. Ryerson, because of his having been Chief Superintendent of Education for so many years, but few persons are acquainted with the name of Dr. Richey, though he was a great preacher in his day and rendered notable service to Victoria College. It is somewhat peculiar that the first Register of the School, which ordinarily takes no account of Church affiliations, notes the fact that Dr. Richey was a Methodist. Dr. Greene, like Bishop Richardson, has had three generations of his descendants at the School.

There are several families besides these two, who have been represented in three generations. Among them are: W. H. Beatty, Sir Matthew Cameron, James Crowther, George T. Denison, John H. Esten, G. D'Arcy Boulton, Judge Kingsmill, H. W. Peterson, the Ridouts, John Beverley Robinson, Larratt W. Smith, and David Thompson. It is not quite clear whether there may not have been four generations of Ridouts. Counting in the female line, there have been four generations of Denisons, the mother of George Denison Kirkpatrick and the late Lieut. Alexander Douglas Kirkpatrick being a daughter of the Police Magistrate of Toronto.

The names Boys, Cochrane (guardian of Bray), Nation, and Patrick are reminiscent of the Bursar's office of King's College. Those of Beaven, King, Nicol, and O'Brien recall Professors of the College, whose sons, together with those of Mr. Chancellor Blake, appear in successive years as exempted by the Council from payment of fees by reason of their fathers' offices. The same privilege was granted to Mr. Orris, the Bedel of the College, for his son and, as a matter of course, to the Masters of the School for theirs.

Various Indian Chiefs were enrolled between 1839 and 1847, it having been the policy of Mr. Jarvis, the Chief Superintendent for Indian Affairs, and of his successor, Capt. Anderson, to have them trained like white boys of good family. Among them were: Francis Assiginack, Joseph Ching-Wa of Manitoulin Island; Abraham Crawford and Peter Johns of the Grand River Reserve; Charles Keejeek (Sky), of the Manitoulin; Mat-twa-aush, or, as he appears in Ranking Book I., Moses Madwayosh; Francis Petoskay of Ottawa, and David Wawanosh of Port Sarnia. These and Joseph Kerr,* who is described as "a grandson of Brandt," were, of course, also admitted without payment of fees.

The people who were supposed to pay fees did not always do so, as appears from the Report of Dr. Workman published in the fifties. In fact, at least one man when he was sued pleaded the Statute of Limitations and so escaped payment. In Mr. Cockburn's time boys whose fees were not paid within a fortnight after their entry or after the beginning of term, were publicly read out in the Prayer Hall, but needless to say, the list was never very long or very frequent in its reading.

The entries Allan, Gemmell, Harris, Hutchison, Kay, Kennedy, Ketchum, McMurrich, Murray, Paterson, Powell, Thompson, Thomson, Walker, with many others, recall business men who once played a prominent part in the community. Col. Allan was one of the signatories of the capitulation of York in 1813 and one of the founders of the Bank of Upper Canada. His son, who was best known as Senator Allan, was a commissioner of the Canada Company, the chief patron of the Canadian Institute, to which he gave the site in Richmond Street East for its first building, and the donor to the City of the Allan Gardens. The Allans' place, Moss Park, remains only in the name of the Moss Park Playground. The Senator's first residence, The Homewood, is now the Wellesley Hospital.

The Mammoth House, owned by the Thompsons, which used to be across the street from the St. Lawrence Market, and the Golden Lion, kept by R. Walker & Sons, which stood on the south side of King Street, about where the King Edward Hotel now stands, have long been only a memory, but the Murrys and the Kays are still found in the flourishing amalgamated business in King Street.

Mr. Ketchum is commemorated in the Jesse Ketchum prizes which are awarded annually in the Day Schools and Sunday Schools of Toronto, as well as in the Public School that bears his name. He was also a benefactor of the Upper Canada Bible and Tract Societies, and of Knox Church, the site which he gave it in Queen Street West having been sold by permission of the Presbytery and of the Legislature to the Robert Simpson Co. for the extension of their building westward.

In connection with the Bank of Upper Canada appear the names of T. G. Ridout, as cashier in 1858, Robert Cassels (sic), who later was connected with the Bank of British North America, Erastus Holden, manager at Belleville, Alexander Proudfoot, agent at Southampton, and J. W. Shortt, of Toronto. In 1850 John Cameron was cashier of the

*He was the son of William John Kerr and his wife Elizabeth, Brant's youngest daughter. Stone's "Life of Brant."

Commercial Bank, which appears at one time to have been known also as the Commercial Bank of the Midland District, having been founded by Mr. Patrick Smyth of Kingston. Other Banks which have ceased to exist, but which are found in the Registers, are: The Royal Canadian Bank, A. Campbell inspector in 1874, the Niagara District Bank, T. R. Merritt president, and the Federal Bank, H. S. Strathy, 1883. There is also the Home District Savings Bank in 1861, with Charles Scadding as manager. The Peel Insurance Co., C. Dickson assistant secretary, is mentioned in 1870. The Dominion Telegraph Co. is mentioned as late as 1880, James Howard being secretary.

When Mr. Thomas Collier, uncle and guardian of Charles Collier in 1852, was connected with the Canada Company, its office was in Front Street. Later on it was at the corner of King and Frederick Streets. The earliest mention of it is found under the entry "Cameron, M. C." It is not quite clear, but there seems to be ground for believing, that the Crown Lands' Office was at 274 King Street East in 1856 (see Collins).

As would naturally be expected, railways began to be mentioned in the fifties, the Northern being the first of them. In 1854 Alfred Brunel was superintendent, and in 1864 David Lister; in 1859 C. W. Rogers was agent; in 1866 S. Skelton, a clerk; in 1880 C. W. Postlethwaite, purchasing agent. In 1887 R. Quinn was the general passenger agent of the Northern and North Western R. R.

Although there is no mention made of the fact in the Register, Dr. Larratt W. Smith was a commissioner appointed by Government to enquire into the affairs of the Railway, which at that time belonged to the country, and not to the G. T. R. In this connection one is reminded of an old cartoon which shows a goodly milch cow labelled "Northern Railway" in the act of being well milked by a milkman labelled "F. W. Cumberland."

Also in 1859 the Buffalo & Huron Ry., now incorporated in the G. T. R. system, appears in the Register. In that year Robert Stuart Carter was manager. In 1865 it is called the Buffalo & Lake Huron Ry., William Maclean being set down as secretary-treasurer.

Other branches of the G. T. R. which find mention are the Welland Ry., T. R. Merritt managing director; the Great Western with Thomas Reynolds of Hamilton as a director in 1860; the Canadian Air Line of the G. W. R. in 1872, F. C. Gamble engineer; the Cobourg & Peterborough Ry. in 1872 and 1873, J. R. Barber superintendent; the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, and Pontypool Ry. in 1877; the Midland Ry., Robert Jaffray, president, in 1883.

In 1874 William Thompson is described as "wood contractor of the Grey & Bruce R.R.," which is called the Toronto, Grey, & Bruce in 1882, G. Laidlaw being president. In 1879 Mr. Laidlaw was president also of the Credit Valley R. R., which, as all who are familiar with the history of railways in this Province know, caused him so much worry and anxiety that his health became seriously impaired. These two Railways are now parts of the C. P. R. system. Of the Toronto, Grey, & Bruce W. J. Watson was paymaster in 1873 and P. Watherston general superintendent in 1874.

Mention is made also of the Central Canada Ry. Co., J. D. Wells secretary, in 1852, 1853, and 1854; of the Huron & Ontario Ship Canal Co., F. C. Capreol being interested in it, in 1870; of the Canada Southern Ry. in 1877, W. A. Thomson of Queenston being connected with it. That was before the M. C. R. or the N. Y. C. R. acquired it, though long after the tragic death of Mr. Zimmerman, its projector, in the accident at the Desjardins Canal.

The Niagara Central Ry. fittingly closes the list. In 1897 D. J. Macqueen was cashier. Now, of course, the line is part of the C. N. R.

Among newspapers the earliest mentioned is the Toronto Herald, connected with the name of Mr. G. A. Barber as editor. He was one of the first Masters of the School, as has been already stated, and he seems at a still later period of his life, if a judgment can be based upon the entries of his sons, to have been secretary of the Toronto School Board.

In 1865 Mr. Charles Lindsey was editor of Mr. Beaty's paper, The Leader, which he continued to publish long after it had ceased to pay, telling a too inquisitive enquirer, as tradition has it, that The Leader had kept him when he was young, and that now when he was old he could afford to keep it. Leader Lane, Leader Lane Chambers, and the Leader Hotel all take their name from this old Conservative paper. Mr. Lindsey, who was the father of Mr. George G. S. Lindsey, K.C., and a son-in-law of Mr. William Lyon Mackenzie, wrote a life of the latter and was Registrar of Deeds for Toronto at the time of his death. The "rebel's" sons sat on the benches of the School alongside of the sons of members of "The Family Compact."

The Globe and the Mail are mentioned under the entries E. B. Brown, A. G. Brown, and G. M. Brown, the brothers Bunting and Douglas, and Henry Farrar. The latter names call up memories of the time when the Mail was the official organ of the Conservative party and of the later time, when it took up the Equal Rights' cry. One morning in the nineties, the Mail and Empire appeared at the top of the page, an amalgamation having been effected with the Empire. Of the Empire the Conservative paper during the Equal Rights' agitation, the publisher, as is shown by the entry for his son, was Mr. David Creighton, now Assistant Receiver-General.

Among other papers still extant are, of course, the World, the News, the Evening Telegram, and Saturday Night. Mention must be made also of the oldest—The Brantford Courier. In 1847 William H. Keeler is described as being connected with it.

A house of entertainment which ceased to exist many years ago was the North American Hotel. The proprietor of it, according to an entry of 1851, was George Charles Horwood. In several entries the Rossin House is mentioned, the family from which it derived its name having been well represented at the School. The Queen's was in full vigour in the sixties; and there stayed a good many Southerners who were making Toronto their home at the time of the Civil War. Among these were G. Bullitt Gordon, J. W. Stone, Edgar Siddons, C. E. Tucker, and J. R. Tucker.

Naturally, young Canadians were attracted by the great struggle in the States; and many of them took part in it on the one side or on the other. On the Union side were J. U. Crawford, A. Helliwell, Robert Kerr, and C. P. Lawrence. Robert Kerr will easily be recognized as the well known C. P. Ry. official of recent years. On the Confederate side was W. R. Burgess, who was never heard of again, but was numbered among the "missing."

Still more naturally did "Old Boys" take service in our own Militia or in the Regular Army, considering the fact that from the very beginning Toronto had been a Garrison town, though, in very early days, the Garrison is spoken of as being two miles from town. That is not to be wondered at, seeing that the earliest settlement was in the neighbourhood of the Don, and that the first incorporation covered a very small area, with George Street as its western limit.

Unhappily, it is impossible to give a complete list of the "Old Boys" who have taken up Arms as a profession, or even of those who have volunteered for any special service. Among the former may be cited the names of Benson, Cameron, Colborne, Crease, Denison, Dunn (V.C.), Frith, Hodgins, Otter, Robinson, Taylor, Wood, Biscoe, and Young.

At the time of Mackenzie's Rebellion the boys clamoured to be allowed to take arms, but Sir Francis Bond Head very wisely refused to grant their request, merely allowing them to do guard duty, as was done likewise in 1866, at the time of the first Fenian Raid. In Ranking Book I. there is an entry to the effect that the distribution of prizes for the year 1837 took place, not in December of that year, as it ordinarily would have done, but on the 26th of February, 1838,—shortly before Dr. Harris' final departure from Toronto.

There appears also: "Memorandum:—In consequence of the Public disturbances, which broke out on 4th December, the Business of the College was necessarily suspended, and the usual yearly Examination omitted; which will account for the following prizes not having been awarded, viz., First and Second Latin Grammar—Greek Grammar—Scripture—College Boarding House."

In helping to quell the Rebellion, Mr. de St. Remy, G. W. Allan, and Larratt W. Smith bore a part. When the portrait of Mr. Allan was being presented to Trinity College by way of celebrating, in 1897, the twentieth anniversary of his election to the Chancellor's chair, Sir John Hagarty, who made the presentation speech, indulged in reminiscences of their friendship. He recalled the fact that they had shouldered their muskets and had gone out against the enemy; but, inveterate punster that he was, he added, "the historian of our deeds will, I hope, be Tacitus."

Here follow lists of "Old Boys" who have been engaged in special duty at various times. The one for the war now in progress will be found in the later part of the book. It is much to be hoped that both the latter and the former may have additions made to them through the kindness of those who read them.

CRIMEAN WAR:—A. R. Dunn, V.C., Arthur Maule (D. at the battle of the Alma), Surgeon-Major T. J. Orton.

INDIAN MUTINY:—Surgeon-Major T. J. Orton, C. W. Robinson.

FENIAN RAIDS:—W. H. Barrett, R. Carney, S. R. Crickmore, J. M. Delamere, C. A. Denison, F. C. Denison, G. T. Denison, M. Dunsford, T. F. Fotheringham, G. C. Gibbons, F. E. Gibbs, J. V. Graveley, E. Harrison, J. J. Harrison, E. H. T. Heward, S. B. Heward, H. E. Irving, R. E. Kingsford, K. C. Marshall, J. H. Mewburn (killed), E. F. Oates, Sir W. D. Otter, Sir J. B. Robinson, J. C. Rykert, G. A. Shaw, Sidney Smith, S. M. Smith, J. Trow, T. Trow, W. H. Van der Smisssen, O. F. Wilkins.

MAORI WAR, NEW ZEALAND:—C. A. Clarke, A. C. Turner.

RED RIVER EXPEDITION under Sir Garnet (afterwards Lord) Wolsley:—E. Harrison.

N. W. REBELLION, 1885:—H. M. Arnold, H. T. Brock, D. O. Brooke, G. H. C. Brooke, W. H. Canniff, R. Carney, J. M. Delamere, C. A. Denison, F. C. Denison, G. T. Denison, J. F. Edgar, F. T. Fisher, W. C. Fitch (killed in action), J. C. Gracé, E. F. Gunther, E. Harrison, E. H. T. Heward, P. D. Hughes, G. E. Laidlaw, E. Langtry, W. P. McKenzie, W. Hamilton Merritt, H. C. Nanton, Sir W. D. Otter, W. Peterson, F. A. C. Redden, A. G. Smith, J. T. Symons, A. B. Thompson, J. H. C. Willoughby (made a prisoner by Riel).

LORD WOLSLEY'S EXPEDITION UP THE NILE:—F. C. Denison, C.M.G.

S. A. WAR, 1899-1902:—Sir F. W. Benson, Jas. L. Biggar, J. Lyons Biggar, A. C. Caldwell, H. Z. C. Cockburn (V.C.), R. C. R. Cockburn, F. L. Cosby, N. W. Cosby, T. G. Delamere, S. J. A. Denison, C.M.G., T. F. Homer-Dixon, G. R. Frith, F. N. Gibbs, H. R. Hayter, R. J. F. Hayter, M. Hendrie, J. S. Hewetson, A. E. Hodgins, H. R. Holt, L. E. Wentworth Irving, D.S.O., G. H. Kirkpatrick, W. R. Kingsford, G. E. Laidlaw, J. C. Law, J. K. G. Magee, W. R. Marshall, W. Hamilton Merritt, H. C. Nanton, Sir W. D. Otter, K.C.B., W. H. H. Ponton, H. R. Poussette, W. B. Ramsay, J. H. Ross, E. R. Street, R. H. M. Temple, H. C. Thacker, P. E. Thacker, H. E. Tremayne, C. S. Wilkie, Alan Cameron, W. H. Scarth.

It is only fair to add that C. S. Patterson, Jr., served in Hawaii and the Philippines, and that J. F. Lawrence, '98, of Westmount, P.Q., is now Assistant to the Sergt. Major at Camp Connel, Philippine Islands.

In the lists just given it will be noticed that the names J. M. Delamere, C. A. Denison, F. C. Denison, G. T. Denison, E. H. T. Heward, W. Hamilton Merritt, and W. D. Otter occur more than once, and that those of Delamere, Denison, and Robinson reappear in the Active Service List for the present year, General Otter being again on duty, though not sent abroad. Colonel G. T. Denison early won distinction by being awarded the Czar's prize for the best essay on Cavalry Tactics.

Among those who are or have been bearing command at home or abroad in the war against Germany and Austria are R. H. Britton, F. L. Burton, G. F. Carruthers, H. G. Carscallen, W. C. V. Chadwick, F. F. Clarke, H. D. G. Crerar, T. G. Delamere, G. T. Denison, Jr., Kelly Evans, A. G. Gill, J. C. Gillespie (?), W. Hendrie, W. I. S. Hendrie, S. W. Hewetson, W. B. Kingsmill, W. C. Laidlaw, E. I. Leonard, E. W. Leonard, P. L. Mason, G. F. McFarland, R. R. Moodie, W. W. Parry, R. Pellatt, E. W. Rathbun, F. A. Reid, J. Y. Reid, J. R. Roaf, D. A. Ross, H. C. Scarth, E. M. Smith, A. T. Thompson, G. E. Vansittart.

To attempt to give a complete list of Commanding Officers of Militia Regiments, etc., would be impossible. Taking a casual glance at some of those whose headquarters are in Toronto, we find that some six or seven of the Commanding Officers of the Queen's Own Rifles, with which the College Rifle Company is affiliated, have been "Old Boys." The same is true of the last three Commanding Officers of the 10th Royal Grenadiers and of most of the Commanding Officers of the Governor General's Body Guard, who have generally been Denisons. The present Commanding Officer of the 48th Highlanders is likewise an "Old Boy"; and the same is true of other corps outside of Toronto.

Regular Troops quartered in the Town and Province between 1830 and 1870 contributed pupils to the School. In 1830 mention is found of the Royal Engineers, Col. Roberts and Capt. Briscoe being stationed at Kingston, and Capt. Phillpotts at York. In 1834 Col. Wright was in command at Kingston, and in 1835 Capt. Macaulay was in Toronto. In 1843 Col. M. Fraser was probably at Kingston, for his son was entered as a boarder in that year. The Engineers are not mentioned again till 1862, in the entry of Edward Beanes, whose father lived at 60 Gerrard Street, and again in 1866 when the Lieut. Col. was F. C. Hassard.

The other representative of the Army who entered his son in 1830 was Mr. Rendall, of the Commissariat at York. In 1839 Deputy Commissary General Knowles sent a son. No member of this branch of the service is represented again until 1846; then it was the Assistant Commissary General, William Bailey, who lived in Church Street. In 1847 the Assistant Commissary General was G. H. Thomson; in 1851 William Stanton; and in 1863 John Sutherland. In 1848 appears the name of Commissary F. Thompson, he being described as guardian of W. H. Mitchell.

In 1831 Major Barwick and Mr. Cameron, father of the Hon. John Hillyard Cameron, were officers of the 79th Regt. Between 1833 and 1837 the 15th and the *66th were represented by the sons of Dr. Bartley, Surgeon, Mr. Beswick, Lieut. Dawson, and Lieut. Ingall of Kingston, belonging to the former corps, and by the sons of Capt. C. E. Kingsmill, Capt. Ross, and Mr. Steele, of the latter.

In 1837 Dr. S. P. Hurd was the Surgeon General.

The 85th Regt. of Light Infantry was here in 1838, Capt. Thomson and Qr. Mr. Sergt. Neil sending their sons to the School. In 1843 Capt. Thompson appeared as an officer of the Regiment, and in 1845 his widow entered another of their sons. In 1855 Capt. Alexander Patterson was described as "late of the 85th Regt."

In 1839 the 32nd Regt. was quartered in the Garrison and remained, apparently, till 1841 at least. Capt. Moore and Dr. Bampfield, the Surgeon, entered their sons in those years. In 1839 appeared also the name of Qr. Master Roy.

*The sketch of Lord Seaton's life reproduced from "The Dictionary of National Biography" shows that he was Lieut. Col. of the 66th from 1809 to 1811.

In 1842 are found the Royal Canadian Rifles, the 83rd Regt., and the 93rd Highlanders. Of the last, Capt. (?) Macdonald was the Adjutant and Dr. Campbell the Surgeon. The second* contributed only one boy, the son of Qr. Master Imray. For the first there are several entries: in 1842, Capt. Johnston's son; in 1843, Dr. John Maitland's; in 1846, Lieut. Black's, of Penetanguishene; in 1847, Lieut. Col. Elliott's and Major Atkin's; in 1848, Major Phillpotts W. Taylor's and Capt. Wardell, the Paymaster's. Whether he is identical with W. H. Wardell of the same Regiment, who entered a son in 1853, cannot be determined. In this latter year the Bandmaster, F. T. Harkness, entered his son, but in 1856, when he was entering another, he was described as Qr. Master.

In 1851, 1854, and 1855, respectively, Capt. James John Graham, Col. James Graham, and Capt. John Ferris, Paymaster, of the Canadian Pensioners, had their sons enrolled; in 1852, Major Tulloch; in 1853, Capt. R. N. Burgess and Capt. R. N. Rogers of Amherstburg. Also in 1851 came a son of Dr. Collis Delmege, late of the 27th Regt.

In 1858 and 1861 Capt. J. Clarke of the 100th Regt. entered his sons; in 1863 Capt. Chichester and Mr. Thomas Griffiths, Paymaster of the 16th Regt., entered theirs. The last Regiment to appear in the Registers is the 18th Hussars, Mr. Morrissey, the Adjutant, having entered a son in 1868.

The geography of the Province as reflected in the Register is also decidedly interesting. The name of the School in itself takes us back, as do those of the Law Society of Upper Canada, the Upper Canada Bible Society, and the Upper Canada Tract Society, to the second period of British rule from 1792 to 1840. It gives one something of a shock to find letters written before 1792 dated from Quebec, which the undivided Province was. From 1840 to 1867 we find Canada West and Canada East instead of Upper and Lower Canada respectively; and of course, from 1867 on we find the present names Ontario and Quebec.

From the earliest times there were Districts* in the Province. They are not all mentioned in Register I.; and they do not appear at all in Register II. The old Lunenburg District had by 1829 been changed to the Eastern. Next in order came the unmentioned Johnstown District round about Brockville, and the Midland, formerly the Mecklenburg. Kingston was the chief town, as the entries for Mr. Sheriff Corbett's sons show in 1845 and 1857. To the west of the Midland lay the Newcastle District (see Grover, Geo. A., 1837, and the Ruttans, 1836). Next in order came the Home District, another Sheriff's son, Jarvis, furnishing the reference to it, in 1835. Around about Hamilton lay the Gore District (see Aikman, 1847, Donnelly, 1843 and 1847, and Waddell, 1857). From "the Jersey Settlement," in the Gore District, came George Miller in 1851. To the south stretched the Niagara District, of which E. C. Campbell's father was Judge in 1849. Further west lay the London District, from which, in 1837, came J. G. D. Mackenzie, whose career as detailed in his

*Dod's "Peerage, Baronage, and Knightage of Great Britain and Ireland for 1860" indicates that the 83rd was commanded at the time of the Rebellion in Upper Canada by Lieut. Col. the Hon. Henry Dundas, afterwards the third Viscount Melville.

*A complete enumeration of the Districts has not been made, only those appearing in the Registers being mentioned.

entry is well worth perusing. The Talbot District, named after the eccentric Colonel, who first came to the country with General Simcoe, had St. Thomas for its chief town. From it came Bowlby in 1847, Graham in 1848, and Berkeley Powell in 1849. In the extreme southwest of the Province was situated the Western District, Sandwich apparently being the chief town in it (see Eliot, Charles, 1845). Stretching from Lake Huron eastward, at least as far as Stratford, in 1841, was the Huron Tract. In that year Thomas Mayne Daly was entered as coming from it.

As early as 1857 Keewatin District, which most people, if asked, would say does not date further back than the seventies, when it began to be administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, is mentioned in Register I. under the entry of D. C. McTavish. The Thunder Bay District was so called in the seventies (entry of J. C. Van Norman); and Port Arthur was still called Prince Arthur's Landing in 1880 (entry of A. N. Wiley).

From Pembina, Red River, came A. Gingras in 1864; and from Pembina, Minn., Red River District, A. E. Todd, in 1866. To the "Great Lone Land" in 1841 the very alluring name of "Indian Country" was given when Hugh Cameron was entering. Other H. B. C. people were the Andersons, Cotters, and Finlaysons.

In 1893 Moosomin was still in Assiniboia (entry of J. A. Wetmore); and Kenora was still Rat Portage (entry of George Everett Hall).

In 1839 (entry of A. Corbett) and for nearly fifty years afterwards, the inhabitants of the southern part of the city of Niagara Falls, Ont., were content with the name of Drummondville for their pretty little village, which lay on the slope of the hill on which the battle of Lundy's Lane was fought. It was left for their more commercially minded successors to replace by Niagara Falls South the older name, which commemorated the General to whom the Province of Upper Canada owed a great deal in the War of 1812.

Wellington Square (entry of M. S. B. Gage, 1848), which commemorated the great Duke, has fared similarly, possibly because there is a Wellington in Prince Edward County. Burlington, considering the surroundings, is perhaps, a more appropriate name. Farmersville (entry of J. A. Clarke, 1887) had decidedly classical taste when it changed itself into Athens. Scarlett's Mills, from which Archibald Scarlett came in 1830, has disappeared from the map; as too has Churchville.

The capital of the Dominion, like the capital of the Province, has undergone a change, as everybody knows. In 1847 (entry of J. A. McArthur and others) the old name Bytown is found. Sometimes it is spelled Byetown. It is generally accepted as a fact that the name was given out of compliment to Colonel Bye, or By. There are said to be old settlers living in the Ottawa Valley in whom the habit of saying "Bytown" has become so firmly rooted that they cannot say even now that they are going to Ottawa.

Vankleek Hill still had an apostrophe in 1852 (entry of J. D. Wells) and, the better to localize it, had Ottawa River written after the name. A similar use of rivers and lakes in giving addresses is found in "St. Lawrence, Dickinson's Landing" (entry of Cyril Archibald); "Lake Shore Road, near Dunnville, Lake Erie" (entries of the Dockers, 1845); "Fredericksburg, Bay of Quinte" (entry of H. F. Hayward, 1847); "The Trent River" (entry of John Hawley, 1846); "The Thames, near London" (entry of George Jacob, 1839); "Penraines, Lake Simcoe" (entry of F. C. Sibbald, 1837).

In like manner well known towns helped people to get their bearings, if the addresses were to townships or to villages. For instance, we find "Maitland, near Prescott" (entry of Andrew Jones, 1847); "Fingal, near Port Stanley" (entry of J. Fowler, 1853); and "Sidney, near Belleville" (entry of W. Rowe, 1861). Sometimes the name of the township stood alone, as in the case of Trafalgar and Haldimand, for which, unfortunately, the reference is lacking. Oakville and Grafton would be more helpful addresses at the present day. "Sydenham, Owen Sound," is another case in point (entry of John Gale, 1858).

"Richmond Hill, Yonge Street," was the proper way to address the father of Walter Boyd in 1838; and the same appendage was necessary for all of the villages up and down the road, including Yorkville (see A. Lumley, 1859, and H. Lumsden, 1868).

"Talbot Street" was a sufficient address for John Lyttle in 1839; and "Dundas Street" continued for many years to enable people to receive their letters. It and Brockton—at the Dundas Street bridges—are closely associated with the name of Denison. "Dundas Street Toll Bar" was the address of C. Williams in 1838.

"Near Toronto" was the description given of the dwelling place of William C. Keele in 1857—presumably a member of the family commemorated in Keele Street, West Toronto. Parkdale is a very modern part of the town, although its Collegiate Institute now ranks as the second oldest in the City. Adolphus Givins was described in 1830, as the son of "Col. Givins, near York." The family name is perpetuated in the street of the same name. "Oakhill, near Trinity College" was the way in which the homestead of Captain Shaw near by, whose name is retained by Shaw Street, was described in 1858. "Aikenshaw, near Toronto" (entry of H. T. Champion, 1857) is the description given of Colonel E. W. Thomson's place near Davenport, but there is no city name to commemorate it. "Davenport near York" was the address in 1830 of the Hon. Col. Wells, the Treasurer of the College, whose name persists in Wells Hill and Wells Street. "Bracondale Hill near Toronto" was the home of the Turners in 1847. Dovercourt and Seaton Village grew up at the intersection of Bloor Street by Dovercourt Road and by Bathurst Street respectively.

Yorkville, which has been already mentioned, was the most considerable of the villages which sprang up in the neighbourhood of the city; and it retained its separate existence till well on into the eighties. Bloor Street, which takes its name from a family which owned a brewery (see John Bloor, 1842), was the dividing line; though, as late as 1866, when F. H. Carruthers entered the School, Sultan Street was counted as being in Yorkville. So, too, was North Street. Eglinton, which is connected with the names Jackes, Mitchell, and Snider, occurs early; and so does Davisville. Deer Park, though associated with the name of Baldwin, is somewhat later. Rosedale, which was opened up by Mr. Edgar J. Jarvis, is of comparatively recent origin, going back only to the seventies. But long after that there was a Toll Gate at Yorkville, which was shifted northward by degrees, till at last it disappeared. In 1858 it was given as John Heighton's address.

"Don River, near York" is the way in which Dr. Scadding's address is given in 1830, whereas C. W. Helliwell's, in 1856, is simply "The Don." As late as 1876 E. Smith was said to live at the "Don Bridge," though the earliest mention of it is found in 1834 (entry of James Franks). In 1863 there is mention of Todmorden in connection with the entry of A. M. and T. McLelland. Leslieville, which appears in the entry of George Leslie, in 1854, was called at a still earlier date Ashcourt. Further out the Kingston Road was Norway (entry of J. A. Whitehead, 1883), for which there is still a post-office and likewise a hotel.

The Old Garrison, which is found in the entry of Randolph Clark in 1858, emphasizes what has been already said about the Garrison lying without the town. "Woodlawn," which also was out of town, was the home of Mr. Justice Morrison and it has given its name to Woodlawn Avenue. "Holland House," which stood in Wellington Street West, almost north of the Queen's Hotel, was the home of Mr. Clarke Gamble from 1863 to 1865, though later on he lived in Simcoe Street. "Holland House" was at one time a Boulton residence and, before it became the Reform Club, the home of Mr. Alexander Manning; but it too, like many other places, has disappeared. "Drumsnab" was, in 1866, the home of Mr. John Cayley, as appears from the entry of his son, Mr. F. O. Cayley.

In the town, as in the country, various buildings were taken as landmarks in order to get one's direction before the houses in the streets were numbered. In 1853 Charles M. Masterson lived on the "Esplanade near Jacques and Hay's factory." In 1856 Robert Russell boarded with Thomas Hutchison in Jarvis Street, "three doors north of the Unitarian Church." In 1859 Mr. S. G. Ridout lived in "Gerrard Street, near the corner of Seaton," as can be seen by referring to the entry of his son, H. J. Ridout.

There are a score or more of streets mentioned in various places which it requires maps of Toronto or successive issues of the City Directory to identify. Avenue Street, which has been absorbed in the portion of the General Hospital's grounds facing College Street, is mentioned in 1870 and succeeding years in the entries of the sons of Mr. F. W. Coate, who was a well known auctioneer. It is found also in the entries of the sons of his successor, Mr. Oliver, their place of business having been in King Street nearly opposite Toronto Street.

Both Avenue Street and University Street, being city property, were fenced off from the Yonge Street Avenue and the Queen Street Avenue, as College Street from Yonge to Beverley, and the University Avenue were respectively called. In those days College Street began only at the top of Beverley Street, or a little to the east of it, being shut off from the sacred domain of the University by a gate, as were Yonge Street, Queen Street, University Street, and William Henry Street. At the entrances to College Avenue, as the Yonge Street Avenue was also called, there was a gate-house, or lodge; at the corner of Queen Street and University Avenue, which was originally intended to be the drive leading to King's College, there were two of these lodges. The Yonge Street Avenue was apparently called Park Avenue in 1863, for, in the entry of C. L. Cricklow in that year, we read that he lived at the corner of Teraulay Street and Park Avenue. For many years the gates used to be locked at sun-down but the growth of the city westward and the necessity of having street cars which the last thirty-five years have witnessed have changed all that.

For the gratification of the curiosity of those who are interested in such things a list of streets which have changed their names is given, together with the modern equivalents as far as it has been possible to learn them: Beech Street (1853, entry of S. Parke, and 1877, of W. Van Allan), Wilton Avenue east of Sherbourne Street; Boulton Street (1856, entry of R. Mishaw), Pearl Street to Simcoe Street; Brock Street (1855, 1865, 1868, 1875, 1880, entries of the Moffatt brothers, A. M. Crocker, C. B. M. Murray, and W. H. Muldrew); Spadina Avenue from Queen Street to Front Street; Centre Avenue Street (1856, entry of D. Carnegie), which appears to be the famous street in the Ward; Crookshank Street, 1856, Cruickshank Street, 1869, or Cruikshank Street, 1869, as it is variously spelled in the entries of W. F. Henderson, W. T. Harris, and W. Stuart, now Wilton Avenue from Yonge Street to Sherbourne Street; Dummer Street (1869, entry of W. C. Campbell), William Street; Elm Street East (1869, C. T. Cox), Carlton Street east of Parliament Street; Emma Street, which was changed first to Mission Avenue, because the Toronto City Mission's hall was at its junction with College Street, but now is LaPlante Avenue; Hospital Street (1842, entry of James Gordon), Richmond Street West, its former name having been derived from the old, old General Hospital; Jarvis Street, Yorkville (1858, entry of J. C. McKeggie); Bismarck Avenue; Lot Street (1833, entry of John Maughan and of the Coates brothers, 1842), Queen Street West, which possibly owed its former name to the "park lots" fronting upon it in the old days; McMahon Street (1864, entry of R. F. Lord), Ontario Street north of Queen Street; Maria Street (1852, entry of John Ridout, son of George H. Ridout), Soho Street; Nelson Street, Market Square (entries of the Platt Brothers, in 1849 and 1851), the lower part of Jarvis Street, apparently from Queen Street southward; Little Nelson St.—to distinguish it from the one just mentioned—(entry of G. N. Baker, 1867, and A. Russell, 1870), which seems to be the present Nelson Street; Palace Street (1852, 1853, 1861, 1865, and 1867, entries of Rolph, Whitney, Clarke, Gooderham, and Thompson), Front Street East from East Market Square, or Nelson Street, to the Don River; Park Lane (1856, entries of R. McCallum and the Steele Brothers), University Street, in the time of the fence already referred to, nothing but a lane running alongside of the Avenue; Little Richmond Street, to distinguish it from Richmond St. West, which till recently ended at Peter Street (entry of W. R. McGill, 1880); St. Ann Street (entry of the Hilton Brothers, 1863), probably a clerical error for Ann Street, which, like McGill Street, Wood Street, and Alexander Street, ran through Bishop Strachan's property. It was called after his wife and in the entry of F. Yates, 1863, it was misspelled "Anne" Street.

St. George's Square was naturally in the neighbourhood of St. George's Church, and was, in part at least, Grange Road. A reference to it occurs as early as 1849 (F. H. Heward and J. H. Esten), again in 1852 (Edward Cayley and J. H. Tulloch), 1857 (G. C. Smith), and 1861

(George Strange). Other Cayley and Strange entries show that the Hon. William Cayley and the Hon. Oliver Mowat lived in Beverley Street later in the sixties.

Incidentally, it may be recalled that in the seventies Sir Oliver Mowat lived in Simcoe Street and subsequently removed to Sir John Macdonald's house in St. George Street. This house, in the interval between Sir Oliver's removal to Ottawa in 1896, to become Minister of Justice in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet and its becoming the residence of the Principal of Knox College, was the home, among others, of the Hon. A. S. Hardy, during his tenure of the Premiership of the Province.

Sayer Street (1832, 1851, 1858, 1859, 1867, and 1869, entries of Pinhey, Sampson, McLeary, Squire, Cameron, Jeffrey) was the modern Chestnut Street; Sydenham Street, Yorkville (1859, entry of A. M. King) was changed to Cumberland Street when Yorkville became a part of the city in order to avoid confusion with Sydenham Street, which runs parallel with Parliament Street, in the eastern part of the city.

William seems to have been much sought after as a name for streets. There was a William St. in Yorkville (entry of T. F. C. E. Knowlys in 1871), which was changed to Yorkville Avenue at the incorporation of the village with the city. There was a William Street in town, which is now Simcoe Street from Queen Street northward (entries of the Baines and the Robertsons); and there was William Henry Street (entry of H. A. Spencer in 1877), corresponding with the upper part of McCaul Street, which, in the lower part—from Grange Road to Queen Street—used to be called Renfrew Street. In 1872 W. J. Meneilly was entered as living in William Street West, which seems to indicate that there was a William Street somewhere to the east of Yonge Street. The present William Street is the one in which Meneilly must have lived, for it was undoubtedly called by that name in the seventies, although, as has been already shown, its earlier name was Dummer Street.

Some of the streets referred to in the preceding paragraphs do not appear at the present day to be such as people of high respectability would choose to live in, but it must not be forgotten that what is now called "the Ward" was a nice, quiet part of the town when Duke, Duchess, Bay, Wellington, John, Peter, and even King and Front Streets were the very fashionable quarters. Anybody who takes an interest in such matters can generally tell by the architecture in the older districts what the character of them was. To mark the successive periods of growth in this fashion, is intensely interesting to anyone who has seen the city increase from 60,000 to its present population.

No less interesting is it, especially in connection with the history of an educational institution like Upper Canada College, to be able to glean some information as to the efforts of various men and women during the last fifty or sixty years, to gather together pupils enough to make a school. They struggled on very bravely, and more or less successfully, for a few years—even for ten, fifteen, or twenty—and then they disappeared from among the instructors of youth, in Toronto, at least.

Equally interesting is it to note the beginnings and the growth of schools like Trinity College School, Port Hope, the Lakefield Preparatory School for Boys, Pickering College, St. Michael's College, the De la Salle Institute, Regiopolis College, Albert College, Belleville, the Baptist College at Woodstock, Ridley College, St. Andrew's College, Highfield, Ashbury, Lake Lodge School, St. Alban's, Brockville, and Appleby, together with other similar schools in other provinces. Where these have attained success, others have had to close their doors after doing valuable work. Among the latter are Hellmuth College, the Wesleyan Institute in Dundas, the Rockwood Academy near Guelph, the Toronto Church School, and St. Alban's Cathedral School. The last two are especially to be regretted, for they laid well the foundations of the training given to their pupils in the next stage of their career by Upper Canada College and other similar schools. To them belongs a part of the credit, when credit is being claimed, for the large number of Public School boys who have volunteered for duty over seas.

Among members of the Church of England there was a strong feeling in the sixties, that, as the Church of Rome had been granted the right to separate schools under the Legislation of 1863, other communions should have the same right accorded to them. Rather than give their children over to the care of the secularized Common Schools, they endeavoured, under the leadership and inspiration of Bishop Strachan, to maintain Church Schools; but, without a share in the taxes and without endowments, the attempt necessarily failed. A little insight into this movement is afforded by Register II., which began with Mr. Cockburn's entrance on the duties of the Principalship in 1861. In it occur the names of Mr. Williams, Mr. Broughall, and Mr. Langtry, who later founded St. Luke's School and the Toronto Church School. Holy Trinity and Trinity School, which probably were one and the same, are also mentioned.

If it had not passed out of existence before the date of the commencement of Register II., St. Paul's Church Grammar School would certainly have been mentioned, but Register I., as already remarked, contains no information of this kind. Some fourteen years ago a pleasant little reunion dinner of Old Boys of that School was held at the Temple Restaurant, everybody present at the dinner being an "Old Boy" also of Upper Canada College, except Mr. George A. Mackenzie, the son of the Headmaster of the School, the Reverend J. G. D. Mackenzie. The latter Mr. Mackenzie was himself an "Old Boy" of the College, as has been said before, and an "Old Master."

A still earlier schoolmaster to whom Toronto boys of the thirties and possibly, also, of the forties, were indebted for most, if not for all, of their training, was Mr. Boyd, the father of the Hon. Sir John Boyd, Chancellor of Ontario. The Chancellor and all of his sons are "Old Boys" of the College.

Through the kindness of Mr. D. George Chesnut, another "Old Boy," it is possible to give an account of his father, the late Thomas George Chesnut, who conducted a highly useful and successful school in the early sixties. "He was born in 1823, in Kingston, U. C. (Ont.), of North of Ireland parentage. His father, William Chesnut, and mother came from County Tyrone, Ireland. After his primary education he attended Victoria College, Cobourg, and was at one time a tutor there, but did not, I understand, graduate. He then taught in the school at Oshawa and went from there to the old Grammar School, as English teacher, when Dr. Howe was Head Master. He afterwards established a Private School in Caer Howell on Murray Street, which he called the Toronto Training School, and which became a sort of feeder for Upper Canada College, and his pupils took high standing in the College, especially in English and Mathematics. At that time he published an Arithmetic and English Grammar (Adam Miller, about 1862).

"He had, in the meantime, built a large school building in Caer Howell, and this becoming too great a financial burden, he gave up the School and went to Hamilton, as English Master in the Hamilton Collegiate, when George Dickson (late Head Master of Upper Canada College) was Principal. He died in 1881. I forgot to mention that he also attended the Divinity School of which Dr. Taylor (father of Chief Justice Sir Thomas Taylor) was the Principal, which was, I believe, the commencement of what is now Knox College. He did not, however, take out a license, although I think he completed the course. He was known mainly as an exceedingly thorough teacher, and his pupils were usually found well grounded."

Also in the sixties the Reverend John Frank (or, as the name sometimes appears, Franck), Mr. Anderson, Mr. Irving, Mr. Irvine (who are perhaps one and the same), and Dr. Benn had schools for younger boys. In the seventies, eighties, and nineties Mr. William McGill (or Magill, as the name is spelled in "The Canadian Album. Men of Canada, or Success by Example" etc.) was the chief private instructor of junior boys and of those who did not fit well into a large school.

Mr. McGill also was an Irishman, having been born in Dublin on the 8th of February, 1823. He was educated in Dublin and he served four years in the study of Civil Engineering. At the age of twenty he began his career as a teacher, having graduated from the Dublin Normal School, and he taught for seven years. In 1866 he came to Canada and settled in Toronto. After a time he took charge of the "Academy" formerly conducted by the Reverend A. Williams of St. John's Church. In 1871 he opened a Boarding and Day School in Simcoe Street, from which many a boy came to College and to which a few of them returned, for reasons already indicated. Mrs. McGill who taught French, Music, Drawing, and English Literature, was of great assistance to him. Her maiden name was Charlotte Ballard, she being the daughter of the Reverend Thomas Ballard, a Wesleyan minister.

Another man who built up a great and well deserved reputation as a teacher in the sixties and one which lasted on into the eighties, was Dr. Tassie, Head Master of the Grammar School in Galt. "Gone to Galt" became fairly common for a time as an entry opposite the names of boys who had left the College. On his withdrawal from Galt, where he had had a system of Boarding Houses, he set up a private school for a few years in Mr. Barrett's house in Bloor Street, near the corner of Church Street. The classes were conducted in the School House of the Church of the Redeemer—delightfully near, as the boys thought, to the Ladies School around the corner from Avenue Road. After a few years Dr. Tassie accepted the Head Mastership of the Collegiate Institute in Peterborough, in which city his honourable career came to an end. During all three stages of his activity there was an interchange of boys between the College and his School.

Also from the Grammar School at Drummondville and at Whitby, to mention only two more, came boys well prepared by the Reverend John Cameron, father of two "Old Boys," and by Mr. S. Arthur Marling, M.A., himself an "Old Boy," and at the time of his death Inspector of High Schools. Mr. Marling took boys into his house, but he did not go so extensively into that kind of work, as did Mr. Cameron. For many years the house of the latter, with an extension thrown out behind it for the accommodation of the boys, stood in Lundy's Lane, a short distance above the village; and the School House itself, which was about ten minutes' walk from the house and which commanded a beautiful view toward Stamford and Queenston, showed by its interior arrangement that it, too, had been used for the accommodation of pupils.

A notable Schoolmaster who is highly spoken of still in Montreal belongs to the same period. He was Mr. Haight, a brother of Mrs. Lay of Montreal and of Miss Haight, who for many years kept a School for Young Ladies in Jarvis Street in one of the houses appropriated to the uses of Havergal College. See Reynolds, J.

The Reverend F. L. Checkley, to whom more detailed reference is made in the List of Masters, and his brother, who also was in Holy Orders, likewise conducted private schools in the sixties, the former in Toronto and the latter in Barrie and, apparently, in Weston. In Weston the latter appears to have been associated with the Reverend William Johnson, who is counted as the founder of Trinity College School, which from 1864 to 1870 was situated in Weston. The Reverend F. L. Checkley, according to the best information available, began his career in the Model Grammar School, established by the Reverend Dr. Ryerson when he was Chief Superintendent of Education and during its brief existence presided over by Mr. Cockburn, who had been imported from Scotland for the position of Head Master.

Another Master of the College besides the Reverend F. L. Checkley was connected with Hellmuth College for Boys, which was founded by the second Bishop of Huron and called by his name. This was the Reverend Arthur Sweatman, who after his return to Hellmuth attained successively to Archidiaconal, Episcopal, and Archiepiscopal dignity.

In the sixties there is mention of Bazelle College (entry of J. B. Kirkwood, 1869). Apparently it was situated in Toronto and was conducted under Roman Catholic auspices.

Quite appropriately, though strangely enough, considering that Register I. ordinarily takes no cognizance of such matters, the earliest reference to a Roman Catholic School is to the Quebec Seminary, in 1849. This is interesting in itself because of the antiquity of that School, as well as by reason of the political conditions of which it is an evidence. In that year entered Mr. E. E. Taché, I.S.O., whose father was in the Government service. In the seventies the Brothers' School begins to be mentioned, and also St. Michael's College. In 1876 the former is called the Brothers' School and in 1877 the Christian Brothers' School. In another entry of 1877, and also in later ones, it is called the De La Salle Institute.

It is worthy of remark that in the sixties University College, Knox College, and Victoria College were all given as the places at which pupils had received their earlier training. The probability is that in these cases it was found that the youths were not ready to attend lectures and that they were advised to go back to school. Upper Canada College, being more advanced than most of the Grammar Schools in that decade, boys were very often sent to it after leaving a Grammar School in order to prepare for matriculation, evidence of that fact being supplied by Register II. It was only toward the end of the seventies that the general improvement in Grammar Schools became noticeable.

Also from the sixties dates a practice which has become very common—that of sending small boys to a Ladies' School. The earliest instance of this is found in the mention of Miss Brown's School in 1861, the next being Loretto Convent in 1869. Who Miss Brown was, has not been determined, but it is possible that she was a sister of the Hon. George Brown. If that is the case, it is interesting to note that her grand-niece has also taken up the work of teaching, and that in recent years she too has taught boys who subsequently entered Upper Canada College. A lady of the same name who did excellent work in the seventies and earlier eighties was Miss Cassels Brown, who was associated with her sister, Mrs. Grundy, the mother of an "Old Boy."

The sixties saw the first arrivals from the Grammar School at Lennoxville (1868) and from Bishop's College School, Lennoxville (1869). Another Grammar School in the Province of Quebec, which still takes boarders is that at Berthier, which is mentioned in Register II. as early as 1862 and as late as 1908.

Commercial Colleges, as they were then called, appear to have been flourishing institutions in the sixties. The earliest mentioned is Bryant and Stratton's, of Toronto.

Judging from the record, there was a great diversity of names for the Baptist College, Woodstock. The following variants are found: 1861, the Canadian Institute, Woodstock; 1864, The Literary Institute, Woodstock; 1865, The Woodstock Institute; 1866, The Canadian Institute, Woodstock; 1867, The Baptist School, Woodstock; 1870, The Canadian Literary Institute, Woodstock; 1873, The Baptist College, Woodstock; 1887, Woodstock Baptist College and Woodstock Canadian Literary Institute; 1888, Woodstock College. A similar diversity is found in the case of the Dundas Institute, mentioned by that name in 1876 and by that of The Western Institute, Dundas; as Dundas College in 1877; the Wesleyan Institute, Dundas, in 1878; and The Wesleyan Institute, 1879.

The schools mentioned in the eighties are: The Academy, Halifax, Dufferin College, London, Miss Foster's School, Toronto, The Gymnasium, Rostock, Prussia, Miss Harris' School, Mr. Harrison's, Mr. Hill's (which is also called an Academy), Mr. Sheldrake's at Lakefield, which is still carried on by the Reverend A. W. Mackenzie, Lincoln College, Sorel, Miss Noverre's, Pickering College, Prince of Wales' College, Charlottetown, P.E.I., St. John's College, Winnipeg (founded by Dr. Anderson, first Bishop of Rupert's Land), Mr. Hill-Tout's School, Miss Walker's, Mr. Waltham's, York Academy, and in the same year, 1884, Mr. York's School. A well known tutor of that decade, through whose hands many an "Old Boy" passed, was Mr. A. Spencer Jones, father of an "Old Boy" and formerly Head Master of the Peterborough Grammar School.

INTRODUCTION.

In the nineties are mentioned Acacia Villa, Ottawa, Mr. Dillon's School, Buckland College, Vancouver, The Methodist College, New Westminster, Mr. Carpenter's School, Toronto, Miss Duncan's, Mrs. Harrison's, the Reverend J. J. Hill's, Mrs. Howland's, King's College School, Windsor, N.S., Louisiana State University; Miss McKellar's (The Misses McKellar appearing in the next decade), Manitoba College School, the Reverend A. Miller's School, Hamilton, the Montreal High School, the Ontario Academy (apparently in North Toronto), Ottawa College, Ottawa University, Ridley College, Rothesay College, New Brunswick, Miss Saunders' School, Miss Sheppard's, Dr. Shep's College, St. Paul's School, London, Miss Stovin's, Miss Thompson's, Western Canada College (at which an "Old Boy," Mr. W. A. Patterson, has for several years been House Master), Miss Watkins' School, and the Reverend D. Williams', London.

Some of the Schools named in the preceding paragraph are mentioned as supplying boys to the School in the following decade also. Those which are mentioned for the first time in the latter are: Ashbury House, Miss Baines' School, Toronto, the Misses Brown & Rolph's, Miss I. Brown's, Miss Edwards', Mr. Glover's, Kingstoft, Havergal Hall School, Havergal College, and Havergal-on-the-Hill, Highfield (whose Head Master, Mr. Collinson, was a much valued Assistant Master from 1893 to 1895), Miss Kay's School, Miss Playter's, Regiopolis College, Kingston, Miss Shanly's School, School of the Sisters of S. J. D., St. Andrew's College (one of whose founders was the late Principal, Mr. Dickson), St. Clement's School, Eglinton (inseparably connected with the memory of that excellent Schoolmaster, the late Reverend Canon Powell), St. Joseph's Academy and Convent, the Reverend A. J. Tuckwell's, of Winnipeg, Westbourne School, Toronto, Westward Ho, Edmonton (whose Head Master was for years the House Master at T. C. S., Port Hope), Miss King-Wood's School, Professor Young's School, London, which likewise appears as Young's Academy. Not a few of these also are mentioned too in the decade now current.

Within the last six years the following schools have begun to appear in Register III.: the Bishop Strachan School, Miss Bruce's, Glen Mawr, Madame Hoffman's, Imaculada College, Lima, Cuba, the Kilburn Sisters', Lake Lodge, Lower Canada College (in Montreal), Mr. Lucas' School, Montreal, Miss Matthews', Toronto, Miss Steiner's, St. Jerome's College, Berlin, St. Margaret's (founded by the late Principal, Mr. Dickson, and Mrs. Dickson), the University Schools, Toronto, and Wymondham House.

Not all the boys who have come to the School from out of town have been boarders by any means, as has been stated already. As early as 1852, under the entry of James Graham, we find "hired a house in town. Mother comes and resides with sons." John McKeown was his own sponsor in 1845, "put himself to College" appearing after his name. The same is said of Alexander Campbell, aged 19, in 1854.

The most human column in the Registers is the one for "Remarks." Among the more pathetic reasons assigned for the withdrawal of boys are: "Father killed in action"—a very recent one; "death of mother"; "gone to Canada East on death of Father"; "Father died"; "gone to country for health"; "homesick"; "Res angusta."

More severe are: "Removed," "removed at my request," and "removed for insubordination to Mr. Mackenzie." "Absconded" was a very harsh word used during the time of the first four principals instead of the milder "ran away" of later days. The story is told of one who "absconded" after two days, that the reason given by him when he was an old man of 80 or upwards, was that on his arrival he and his father lunched at the Principal's, but that he was insulted by not being allowed to have any wine, which he was accustomed to have at home.

"Went to Germany" makes rather startling reading at the present day, and it must have been rather unusual in 1872, when W. English left school. "Went to Fort Garry," which is set down for H. Lumsden a year earlier, is hardly less remarkable, considering how long the journey thither took in those days, and the scantiness of the population of Winnipeg.

To those who are familiar with the career of the Hon. William Macdougall and with his unsuccessful attempt, in the face of the dissuasive arguments of Riel's emissaries, to enter upon the duties of Lieutenant Governor of the new Province of Manitoba, it may seem like a strange coincidence that the next editorial notes concern him and his sons. In 1861, when his son Joseph, the future County Judge of York, entered the School, his address was Eglinton; in 1862 he was Commissioner of Crown Lands and lived in Hughes Terrace, Toronto; but in 1863 his son Alfred was withdrawn and opposite his name was written "gone to Quebec." In 1866 he had removed to Ottawa, his son Francis M. being entered in that year as coming from a Private School in Quebec. These entries, together with those of the Burns, Langtons, Patricks, Taylors, and Dufort, throw an interesting light on the political arrangements of the years between 1840 and 1867, when the Government of the United Provinces was peripatetic, migrating from Kingston to Montreal, Quebec, and Toronto.

Among the Governors whose sons have attended the School were Sir John Colborne, Sir Edmund Walker Head, Sir George Arthur, and pretty much all of those since Confederation. Among the Cabinet Ministers who sent their sons were: Sir Francis Hincks, the Hon. William Cayley, not to mention any of earlier date, Sir Louis Davies, the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Sir Charles Tupper, the Hon. R. Rogers, the Hon. J. Sandfield Macdonald, Sir Oliver Mowat, the Hon. A. S. Hardy, Sir J. P. Whitney, Sir George Ross (the real Governor of the School from 1887, the date of its separation from the University of Toronto, down to 1894), and the Hon. T. B. Pardee, who, with Mr. Martland and numerous "Old Boys," saved the College from extinction in 1887. (See Hudson, R. S.)

In 1844 Adalbert Barclay, U. E. L., entered the School from New York, where his father was British Consul. One of his pre-revolutionary ancestors, the Reverend Dr. Barclay, had been Rector of Trinity Church in that city in the earlier part of the eighteenth century.

Other U. E. Loyalists of note who attended the School were the Hamiltons of Queenston, whose name is perpetuated in the city at the "Head of the Lake," which has sent so many boys to the School. The founder of the family was the Honourable Robert Hamilton, the great man of the Niagara District, the "finder" of Bishop Strachan, and the partner of the Honourable Richard Cartwright of Kingston. Both of the partners were firmly trusted by Lord Dorchester and were appointed members of the first Legislative Council of Upper Canada, in 1792. In the Council they proved to be thorns in the flesh to Lieutenant Governor Simcoe, but he went home in 1796 and they continued their useful work till 1809 and 1815 respectively.

Professor Henry Y. Hind, who was well known because of his travels in, and description of, the far West, sent a son to the School in 1863. Eleven years earlier there had come from Barbados a nephew of the Reverend Professor Parry, the first Professor of Classics in Trinity College, the boy's father being at the time Bishop of the Islands named.

Another name of historic interest is that of Bouchette, the first owner of it in the Province having been Superintendent of Surveys. Other names which deserve to be mentioned in a like connection are Duggan, Evans, Thomson, Tyrrell, Wright, and Cox.

Most of the "Old Boys" have taken to Law or to business; and in both they have attained great prominence. Many members of the legal profession have found places on the Bench of several Provinces, and of the Supreme Court of the Dominion, among them being the Honourable Thomas Moss, Chief Justice of Ontario, Sir John Boyd, the Honourable S. H. Blake, Mr. Justice Armour, and Mr. Justice Hodgins. Others have been acknowledged as the leaders of the Bar in their respective Provinces, the Honourable John Hillyard Cameron, the Honourable Edward Blake, and Sir Æmilius Irving having filled the high office of Treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada. Two members of the profession in Ontario, the Honourable John Crawford and the Honourable John Beverley Robinson, have been Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. Mr. Christopher Robinson, K.C., is understood to have declined the honour of knighthood twice.

The present Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Sir John Hendrie, is also an "Old Boy"; and so is the recently appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, Sir James Aikins, whose father also held that office. In Winnipeg lives an "Old Boy," the Very Reverend A. B. Baird, D.D., who this year occupies the highest dignity in the Presbyterian Church in Canada—Moderator of the General Assembly. His permanent position is that of a Professor in Manitoba College, of which, since the death of Dr. Patrick, he has been Acting Principal. Vernon, B. C., is the home of another "Old Boy," the Right Reverend A. J. Doull, D.D., first Bishop of the Kootenay.

In both eastern and western provinces "Old Boys" are found occupying Professors' chairs. "Old Boys" who are medical men have likewise attained prominence, among them being Dr. Montizambert, of Ottawa, Dr. Donald Armour and Dr. Badgerow of London, England, Drs. Todd and Cameron of McGill University, Dr. Charles Sheard, Dr. Allen Baines Professor Irving H. Cameron of the University of Toronto, and the late Drs. Graham, Ross, and Sweetnam, together with many younger men who are winning a name for their excellent work.

Men of affairs are found on the list who have done useful work in Great Britain and the United States, as well as in Canada. Among those who have stayed at home is Sir George Gibbons late of the International Waterways Commission. Members of Parliament and of the Provincial Legislature are numerous, among the former being at the present time Messrs. Armstrong, Bristol, McCrae, Northrup, Pardee, and Smith. In the latter group the most noteworthy at the moment is, perhaps, the Honourable C. W. Cross, Attorney-General of Alberta, the Honourable Robert Beaven having been Premier of British Columbia, and the Honourable J. H. Agnew, deceased, Treasurer of Manitoba.

It is curious to find how many "Old Boys" did not know their age or their birthday when they entered the School. The greatest uncertainty on this point is noticeable in Register I. Sometimes there is only a day's difference between the first and the second entry, as in the case of Albert P. Granger, who, on entering in 1856 gave his birthday as the 16th of October, but on re-entering in 1857 gave it as the 17th. John Baldwin kept to the same day and month in his entries of 1834 and 1837, but in the latter year, he put himself down as having been born in 1824, whereas, in the former he had given the year of his birth as 1825. A similar mistake, though in the other direction, was made by John Billings in 1835 and 1836. George D'Arcy Boulton placed his birthday four days earlier in 1858 than he had placed it in 1854; and Henry Carew Boulton placed his two whole months earlier at his re-entry in 1848 than he had done on his first registration in 1842. The extreme of variation is found in the entries of T. S. Kennedy: he was fifteen when he entered in 1865, then giving his birthday as July 15th, 1840; and he was still fifteen in 1859, when his birthday was given as July 15th, 1844.

In Register I. social distinctions are very carefully noted. In cases where there is no prefix of a military, political, or ecclesiastical description, "Esquire" is written after the names of fathers who were to be distinguished from mere tradesmen. The latter are very carefully denominated "Mr."

In the same Register the following are the categories: 1, Pupil's name; 2, Date of birth; 3, Address of parent or guardian; 4, When entered; 5, Living at home, or a boarder; 6, Placed in Form; 7, Left College; 8, Rank in College on leaving. In Register II. they are: 1, Date of admission; 2, Register number; 3, Name of Pupil; 4, Name of parent or guardian; 5, Occupation; 6, Residence; 7, Age of pupil; 8, Country of birth; 9, Religious Persuasion; 10, School and County from which he came; 11, Average of Admission; 12, Date of Entrance into each Form; 13, Date of Leaving; 14, Reason; 15, Distinguished; 16, Meritorious; 17, Remarks. It is rare to find all the columns filled, the greatest care in this matter having been displayed by Mr. Thompson.

From 1830 to 1850 there were four quarters, which respectively ended on or about the 20th of March, the 3rd of June, the Summer Vacation, which came in August, and Christmas. In 1850 there were four terms ending on or about November the 20th, February the 28th, May the 14th, and July the 23rd. These approximately continued to be the terms down to Mr. Dickson's time, when three became the order, except that the Summer Vacation was lengthened by being brought on earlier and earlier, till at length it began about the 24th of June.

In the Ontario Legislature Messrs. Henry, Irish, and Thompson have seats. Another Mr. Cross and Dr. Vidal are members of U. S. Legislatures.

In 1844 is found this note marking the change in the School Year, which from the first had run concurrently with the Calendar Year:—"The recitations and distribution of the Prizes took place for the first time at the beginning of the Summer Vacation in order that the commencement of the College Year might meet that of the University." It was only toward the end of Mr. Cockburn's Principalship that the present order of things came in, under which the Prize Day falls in September or October.

"On Wednesday, November 27, 1844, the boys were dismissed to their homes on the unanimous recommendation of the medical men, as the Scarlet Fever had made its appearance in the College Boarding House, and was attended with one death, that of G. Willard of the 3rd Form." There have been few other deaths in the House, among the few being Arthur G. Field, 1882, at the old School, and Alexander Douglas Sproat, ten years later, at the new School, as the result of an accident while fencing. Day boys who died within the same decade, or thereabouts, while attending the School, were Gooch, Ross, and Oliver.

The average attendance in 1830 was $104\frac{3}{4}$, going up to $126\frac{1}{2}$ in 1835, the high water mark of Dr. Harris' time, and down to $99\frac{1}{4}$ in the following year, though it rose the next year, his last, to $115\frac{1}{2}$. In 1838 when the Reverend Charles Matthews was Acting Principal, the average was 133. In Dr. McCaul's first year, 1839, it rose to $155\frac{1}{4}$; falling slightly in the next two years but recovering itself in 1842 and going up to $181\frac{1}{4}$ in 1843, the year in which he became Vice-President of King's College. In 1844, Mr. Barron's first year, it was $177\frac{1}{2}$; and in 1856, his last year, it was $202\frac{1}{4}$. His highest average was $207\frac{1}{2}$, reached in 1848, and his lowest, $159\frac{1}{4}$ in 1851. Mr. Stennett's average was, for 1857, $237\frac{1}{4}$; for 1858, $276\frac{3}{4}$; for 1859, $268\frac{1}{2}$; and for 1860, $200\frac{1}{2}$. In 1861 Mr. Cockburn began with an average of $150\frac{1}{2}$, which rose steadily to $239\frac{3}{4}$ in 1869, the last year for which the average is made up in Register I. There were fluctuations from 1865 to 1868, due, probably, to political and economic conditions. As a result of his own and Mr. Martland's capable management, the increase of pupils was very great in the seventies, the attractive power of the staff generally being also very strong.

The last name entered in Register I. was that of William Corbet of Guelph. The first to appear in Register II. was that of Charles W. Bell, afterwards a Head Boy; and the last in Mr. Cockburn's time, were the brothers Douglas (W. and J. S.) of Phoenixville, Arizona. The last one in the book is Archibald McFarlane Patterson, bearing date, September 29th, 1894, the beginning of Mr. Dickson's last year as Principal.

Between Register II. and Register III. there is a gap, which is only partially filled by the Applications Book for 1894 and 1895. In Register III there are years when the entries were all made at one writing, therefore it has been impossible in those years to determine the dates of entry by months and days of the month.

Christian names are seldom registered. Those which are given in this publication have been obtained by much correspondence.

There ought to be three Ranking Books, but thus far Ranking Book II, covering the period from 1871 to 1895, has eluded the eye of the officials who have been searching for it. Ranking Book I., begun in January, 1832, and ended in June, 1870, has for the most part been very carefully kept, though from 1849 on the Prize Lists are not entered. They are entered in the earlier years and they make very interesting reading.

The Lieutenant-Governor's Prize dates from the very beginning, and was continued down to 1881, though in 1841 His Excellency, the Governor-General's Prize took its place and continued so to do till the separation of the Provinces. In 1836 it is specially stated that this Prize was given by His Excellency Sir F. B. Head.

The Principal gave a prize for Good Conduct, which was continued for several years, the winner of it, apparently, being called in some of them "Principal's Monitor" and "Head Monitor." There were also prizes for Bookkeeping, Writing, Reading, Geography, French, Drawing, and the First Classical Master's Prize. In 1834 there were two "extra prizes," the one given by the College and the other by the Lord Bishop of Quebec—the Right Reverend and Honourable Charles James Stewart. In 1836 there was a Geometrical Drawing Prize, won by Walter Stennett, also a Landscape Drawing Prize, won by Frederick Wells. In the same year there was a College Boarding House Prize, awarded to Thomas Keefer, apparently on an examination in English History. Another Prize of the same year was for Scripture, the examination covering the first fourteen chapters of the Acts. The Prize Poem for that year was entitled, "Canada" and in the year following, it was written "On the Accession of Queen Victoria" by Larratt W. Smith.

In 1839 there was an Essay Prize. A new item in the Prize List in that year was "Special Mention for Good Conduct." In 1840 occurs the first mention of Natural Philosophy, Logic, and History, Geography, and Antiquities. In 1835 the English Poem which won the prize was written on "Xerxes at Abydos" and the subject for the English Essay was "The Influence of Habit." In this year Surveying had a Prize and, in the next year, Hebrew and German. In 1844 occurs the first mention of a Prize for the Greatest Amount of Voluntary Extra Work!

In the term ending May the 13th, 1857, there was no Seventh Form, but it was revived in November of that year. In 1858 the Commercial Department appears for the first time in the returns for the Term ending February the 14th; in those for the Term ending November the 19th, the English Department makes its first appearance.

Under the heading of "Winter Term, ending February the 14th, 1861," occurs the note: "at the Commencement of this Term the fees were raised to $10.00, $9.00, and $8.00, per term." In the Spring Term, ending April the 30th, 1862, it is stated that the "Preparatory is abolished in the interim." It had existed from the opening of the School in 1830, but it was not revived till 1901, on the opening of the Preparatory School in Dr. Parkin's time.

In 1860 Forms I. and II. were large enough to require division into two parts each. The same was true of all the Forms in the School except the Fifth and the Sixth, when Mr. Cockburn resigned the Principalship in 1881. He abolished the Seventh definitely in 1860, and in the seventies he instituted two "Modern" Forms, the Upper and the Lower, parallel respectively to Four B and Four A, and to Three B and Three A.

In 1866 the Ranking Book shows for the first time the "Number of Pupils attending College who do not reside in the Boarding House, but who come from a distance to attend College." By the Winter Term of 1869 there were 43 such, including boys whose homes were in the suburbs.

On the fly leaf of Ranking Book I. is the imprint of an old stamp showing a milled edge surrounding a wreath of laurel leaves. Between this milling and the laurel leaves is the legend "Upper Canada College," the first two words standing above, and the last, separated from them by two stars, standing below the laurel wreath. Within the wreath is the College motto, which together with the Horatian verse in the Prize Books, is said to have been of Dr. Harris' choosing. Within the motto is a device, which it is difficult to decipher, but it certainly is not the Crown to which later generations have grown accustomed.

From the very brief and imperfect survey of its history here taken, it may be claimed for Upper Canada College that in King Street, as well as in Deer Park, it has made a most valuable contribution to the life of the City, the Province, the Dominion, and the Empire. In the new home, which is to be erected for it at Norval on the River Credit, may it have as honourable a career as it has had in its two other homes. Palmas Qui Meruit Ferat.

THE FIRST GOVERNING BODY.

As already stated, the first Governing Body of the School was composed of the members of the General Board of Education for the Province of Upper Canada. They were at its inception in 1823; the Honourable and Venerable John Strachan, M.A., D.D., LL.D., Archdeacon of York, Chairman; the Honourable George H. Markland, Secretary; Colonel the Honourable Joseph Wells, Treasurer; the Honourable John B. Robinson, Chief Justice; T. Ridout, Senior, Esquire; and the Reverend R. Addison—who died in 1829, before the School began its operations.

FORMER CHAIRMEN OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

The Hon. John Beverley Robinson ("Old Boy"), appointed January 4, 1888; His Honour Judge John J. Kingsmill, K.C. ("Old Boy"), elected September 26, 1894; Col. George T. Denison ("Old Boy"), elected November 13, 1899.

THE PRESENT BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

W. G. Gooderham ("Old Boy"), Chairman.

The Honourable R. A. Pyne, Minister of Education; Sir W. R. Meredith, Chief Justice of Ontario and Chancellor of the University of Toronto; Sir J. A. Boyd, K.C.M.G. ("Old Boy"), Chancellor of Ontario; George F. Shepley, K.C., Treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada;

Arthur Hewitt, Esq., President of the Board of Trade of Toronto, ex officio. Frank Arnoldi, K.C., Lieut. Col. W. N. Ponton, Professor A. H. Young, representing the Old Boys' Association. Col. George T. Denison ("Old Boy"), W. R. Brock, Esq., W. D. Matthews, Esq., Sir John S. Willison, R. S. Hudson, B.A. ("Old Boy"), Col. G. A. Sweny, Norman R. Gooderham, Esq. ("Old Boy"), Brig. Gen. Sir Henry M. Pellatt, A.D.C. ("Old Boy"), coöpted.

THE OLD BOYS' ASSOCIATION.

The Old Boys' Association, which has borne the expense of making the Card Index of the past and present pupils of the School, as well as of preparing this Book for publication, was founded in 1891, on the occasion of the closing of the old buildings in King Street. The twentieth Anniversary was celebrated in June, 1911, by a luncheon and a cricket match at the present School, thus repeating the ceremonial observed at its inauguration. Though no organization had been effected in 1887, the idea of one may be said to have been generated then, for in the Spring of that year a meeting was held in the Prayer Hall for the purpose of protesting against the spoliation of the College contemplated by the legislation devised by the Government for the purpose of enriching the University. In connection with this meeting, which is described in the Memorial Volume, and also in connection with the formation of the Old Boys' Association, the utmost credit must be given to the Principal of that time, Mr. George Dickson, M.A., who realized that the strength of any school lies in the loyalty and the devotion of its "Old Boys."

On various occasion since 1891 the Old Boys' Association has taken vigorous action in behalf of the School. In 1901 it undertook, under the leadership of Mr. H. C. Hammond, to provide for the erection of a Preparatory School, and it organized the ceremonies observed at the laying of the cornerstone. In 1909 it organized likewise dinners in London, England, New York, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Calgary, and Vancouver, which were held on one and the same night for the purpose of celebrating the eightieth anniversary of the foundation of the School. Three years ago, under the present President, it held a picnic at Norval for the purpose of allowing the "Old Boys" to view the beautiful, extensive grounds which have been secured for the new building. Financial conditions connected with the war make it improbable that removal will be accomplished for five years to come.

The Old Boys' Association is represented on the Board of Governors by its President, who happens at present to be Chairman of the Board, and by three elected members. These four men, with the other members of the Board, elect the remaining members from time to time as their term of office expires. The ex officio members are: the Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario, the Chief Justice of Ontario, the Chancellor of Ontario, the Chancellor of the University of Toronto, the Treasurer of the Law Society of Upper Canada, and the President of the Toronto Board of Trade.

About a year ago the Association took steps to secure from the "Old Boys" subscriptions for a Motor Ambulance to be used in Red Cross work. The response was such that the Ambulance is now in use and is being driven by an "Old Boy," S. L. Crqwthier.

As in the case of the School, so with the Association, its strength depends upon the co-operation and the adhesion of the "Old Boys." Happily a large and ready response was made to the recent appeal for new members. But it is hoped that the membership will grow to be much larger still, seeing that the Association has for its main object the advancement of the School.

KEY TO THE ENTRIES.

B. at the beginning of an entry means Boarder; elsewhere it means born. The dates next following are those of entering and leaving the School respectively. The father's address is that which he had when his son was sent to School, unless it is given in square brackets. They in this case, as in others, are indicative of information not contained in the Registers. The schools mentioned before the age, or the date of birth, are those from which the boys entered the School; those following are the schools to which they went on leaving it. The ages, which have been given from Mr. Cockburn's time on, are set down in years and months. Years of birth and death are seldom abbreviated. Addresses within the quotation marks are those at which boys were to be found when they were attending School. Everything following the quotation marks relates to their subsequent careers. Dagger (†) indicates deceased "Old Masters" and "Old Boys" whose deaths have been vouched for. One asterisk (*) denotes membership in the Old Boys' Association; two (), life membership; three (), honorary life membership. References are always made from "Old Boys" to their fathers by means of the letters q. v.

The abbreviations used are such as are supposed to be easily intelligible. E. stands for Educated; M. for Married; m. for matriculated; C. I. for Collegiate Institute; H. S. for High School; P. S. for Public School; S. S. for Separate School; ordained d., p. for ordained deacon, priest.

THE FOUNDER

FIELD MARSHAL SIR JOHN COLBORNE, 1ST. BARON SEATON.

"General, only son of Samuel Colborne of Lyndhurst, Hampshire, was born there on February 16, 1778. He entered the army as an ensign in the 20th Regiment on July 20, 1794, and won every step of promotion without purchase. He was promoted Lieutenant on September 4, 1795, and Captain-Lieutenant on August 11, 1799, in which year he was first engaged in war in the fruitless expedition to the Helder. In 1801 he accompanied his regiment to Egypt, where it particularly distinguished itself, and was promoted Captain on January 12, 1800, shortly before it sailed. From Egypt the 20th went to Malta, and then to Sicily, and Colborne particularly distinguished himself at Maida, and shortly afterwards Sir John Moore took notice of him, secured his promotion to the rank of Major on January 21, 1808, and made him his military secretary. He accompanied Sir John Moore to Sweden and to Portugal, and was by his side all through the retreat to Corunna, and when the General was dying he said to Colonel Paul Anderson, 'Anderson, remember you go to — and tell him it is my request, and that I request that he will give Major Colborne a Lieutenant-Colonelcy. He has been long with me, and I know him to be most worthy of it.' The General's dying request was of course granted, and Colborne was, on February 2, 1809, gazetted to the Lieutenant-Colonelcy of the 5th garrison battalion, from which he exchanged to the 66th Regiment on November 2, 1809, and to the 52nd Oxfordshire Light Infantry on July 18, 1811. In 1809 Colborne proceeded to the Peninsula, and was at once sent by Lord Wellington on a mission to the Spanish General, Venegas, whose utter defeat at Ocaña he witnessed and reported upon. He then joined the 66th, and was present at Busaco, and in the following year temporarily commanded a brigade of the second division as senior colonel at the battle of Albuera. Directly after that battle he assumed command of the 52nd, one of the three famous regiments which formed the light brigade and the nucleus of the famous light division. He first took them into action in storming the fort of San Francisco, an outwork of Ciudad Rodrigo, where he was so severely wounded that he was unable to be present at the storming of Badajoz. He commanded his regiment only at the battle of Salamanca, but in 1813 he again assumed the command of the Left Brigade of the Light Division, and commanded it through the three great battles of Vittoria, the Nivelle, and the Nive. He then again reverted to the command of his regiment and commanded it at the battles of Orthes and Toulouse. On the conclusion of peace he was promoted Colonel on June 4, 1814, given a gold cross and three clasps, and on the extension of the Order of the Bath was made one of the first K. C. B's, and afterwards an Aide-de-Camp to the Prince Regent. When Napoleon escaped from Elba, the 52nd, under the command of Colborne, was ordered to Belgium, and brigaded with the 71st and 95th Regiments under Major-General Adam [see Adam, Sir Frederick] in the division of Lord Hill. This division was posted on the extreme right of the English position in order to keep open the communications with Hal; but, when it was perceived that Napoleon was not trying to turn the English line, but to force his way through; the Brigade gradually moved forward so as to be able to pour in a flank fire on any charge in column that might be made within its reach. The opportunity arrived when the Old Guard advanced to the charge; then Colborne, who as Napier says, was 'a man of singular talent for war,' suddenly fired a volley into the flank of the dense column, and then charged it and routed it. Whether this charge of Colborne's really defeated the Old Guard and won the battle of Waterloo is a point which will always be disputed, but it is perfectly certain that he defeated a body of the guard, either the main guard or a detached portion, and most probably the second line. Anyhow there can be no doubt that the Duke of Wellington never gave credit to Colborne's exploit. Colborne, however, received the orders of Maria Theresa and St. George, and directly he was promoted Major-General in 1825 he was made Lieutenant-Governor of Guernsey. There he made himself both useful and popular, especially by restoring the Elizabeth College, with its rich foundation, to a legitimate purpose. In 1830 he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, an appointment he vacated on his promotion to the rank of Lieutenant-General in 1838. At the moment he was preparing to leave Canada the Canadian Rebellion broke out; Colborne was at once ordered, if he had not embarked, to assume the office of Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief. He quelled the rebellion so speedily, and acted with such prudence, that his elevation to the peerage as Lord Seaton of Seaton in Devonshire, on December 14, 1839, was received with universal approbation. From 1843 to 1849 he was Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, and made a G. C. M. G. in the latter year. In 1854 he was promoted General and transferred from the colonelcy of the 26th Regiment to that of the 2nd Life Guards. From 1855 to 1860 he acted as commander of the forces in Ireland, and was sworn a Privy Councillor in that country. On March 30, 1860, on his retirement, he was created a Field-Marshal. His health soon began to decline, and on April 17, 1863, he died at Valetta House, Torquay, aged 85. He married, in 1814, Elizabeth, daughter of the Rev. J. Yonge, Rector of Newton Ferrers, Devonshire, and left two sons, both Generals in the army, besides other children."—Dictionary of National Biography.

"Married, March, 1814, eldest daughter of James Yonge, Esq., of Puslinch, Devon (she was born 1790); was raised to the peerage for his services as Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief in Canada; and enjoys a pension of £2,000, settled by Act of Parliament (3rd Vict. c. 11) on himself and his two immediate successors in the peerage."—Dod's Peerage, Baronetage, and Knightage, of Great Britain and Ireland, for 1860.

Burke's Peerage gives him the Field Marshal's baton.

*This, of course, is a mistake for 1829. Public documents, such as marriage licenses, ran in Sir John Colborne's name as early as January, 1829. Besides he took measures in 1829 for founding Upper Canada College.

BARRON, Frederick William†; 3rd Classical Master, '34-'38; 2nd Classical Master, '38-'43; 1st Classical Master, '43-; Principal, '43-'56; "My father came to Canada in a sailing ship, away back in the early thirties. His intention was to return to England, but when in Hamilton on one occasion he noticed in the paper an advertisement for a Classical Master in Upper Canada College. He sent in his application, not supposing it would be accepted, because at the time he did not know a soul in Canada—at least so he thought. It turned out however that a Col. Wells was present when his application was received, and this Col. Wells knew him at Cambridge and the result was his appointment." B. Norwich, Co. of Norfolk, Eng., Son of John Augustus Barron; M. Andrew's Lodge; D. in 1887, in Toronto; buried in St. James's Cemetery.

"From all I can gather he was of the old school, very strict, but very just. He took part with the boys in all their games, especially cricket, and was a good boxer and fencer, and an expert rower, as one can understand because he was one of the Cambridge Eight in the then proposed race, which I have heard him say was cancelled because of some dispute in regard to the waters upon which the race was to have been rowed. It is said he made the boys FIGHT their own disputes, and stood close by to see that all was fair.

"Old Major Goodwin, an old Crimean veteran taught fencing, and I can remember, as a child, seeing these two fencing in the cellar of the Principal's house at Upper Canada College."

"Perhaps in the severe temperature of the 'Mathematical Master's Room,' in the olden time, kept in winter, as will be remembered, as little above freezing as possible, some of our eminent engineers and explorers of new districts had tested for the first time that power of endurance, and that capacity for solving problems under difficulties, which have contributed to their success; a power and a capacity brought prominently out, perhaps, for the first time, in some one or other of the memorable tramps, laboriously undertaken on the ice of Toronto bay, or elsewhere, in company with their iron-sinewed teacher, whilst being shown by him practically how to run base-lines and take angles, and measure the altitude of the sun and other objects."—Rev. H. Scadding.

CRICKET.

It is much to be regretted that the names of members of Cricket Elevens and of teams which have represented the School in other sports cannot, for lack of space, be given. But names like Counsell, Gillespie, Hope, Laing, Lindsey, Lownsbrough, McGiverin, Pardee, Senkler, and Rein Wadsforth ought to be kept in memory.

SUMMARY.

|--|-------|
| Total number of names in this List..... | 7,884 |
| Total number of "Old Boys" known to be dead... | 1,752 |
| Total number of Masters | 198 |
| Total number of Deceased Masters as far as known | 61 |

NOTE.—Doubtless the number of those who have passed away exceeds 1,751, but the Editor has not felt himself to be at liberty, in spite of probabilities, to mark as dead the very early "Old Boys" any more than the later ones, unless he has been certified of their death.

GENERAL INDEX

The "Roll" itself and the Military Lists having been arranged alphabetically, this index has been constructed chiefly for the Introduction, but it contains references also to matters of importance in the other sections.
